

Three State Drug Raids Net 200

NEW YORK (UPI)—A series of narcotics raids in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut Wednesday and today resulted in the arrest of more than 200 persons, including a policeman and three prison guards. Drugs valued at $1.2 million were seized by police.

A total of 227 persons had been taken into custody in the three states with more arrests expected to be announced today.

At least 194 persons were arrested in a series of coordinated raids conducted by the Metropolitan Regional Narcotics Task Force in the New York City metropolitan area. Another 28 persons were arrested in central New Jersey and five were arrested in a separate raid in Brooklyn.

The task force raids were coordinated Wednesday in New York City, New York State, western Connecticut and eastern New Jersey. The task force is a recently formed unit of the Metropolitan Regional Council (MRC), an organization of district attorneys from the three states.

Carl A. Vergari, Westchester County (N.Y.) district attorney and chairman of the Task Force policy committee, said the raids "moved against our source of trouble, the dealer and supplier."

Arrested in the raids were three state correctional officers at Greenhaven Prison in Stormville, N. Y., a teacher in the city's school system and a Long Island attorney.

The prison guards arrested were identified as Steven Giguere, 22, Bernard Drollette, 25, and Raymond Jessey, 23, all residents of Wingdale.

Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan said the guards were arrested on the basis of an alleged sale of drugs to an undercover agent in Wingdale. He said they were not charged with selling narcotics to inmates at the prison, located at Stormville.

Bail for Drollette and Jessey, who were charged with possession and sale of dangerous drugs, was set at $10,000. Bail for Giguere, who was charged with possession of dangerous drugs, was set at $5,000.

Authorities said Jessey and Giguere began working for the Department of Correctional Services last year. Drollette began work in 1968, officials said.

The raids were coordinated at the task force's command post in the World Trade Center, the building under construction on Manhattan which is the world's highest structure.

Patrolman Raymond Ellington, 35, was one of five persons arrested Wednesday in Brooklyn. Brooklyn District Attorney

Eugene Gold said Ellington acted as a guard for a major drug distribution ring.

New Jersey State Police in Monmouth and Ocean counties conducted a series of raids late Wednesday night and today after 39 persons wanted on 46 separate narcotics charges.

A spokesman for the police said the raids were aimed at street pushers of heroin, marijuana, hashish and LSD. He said no drugs were seized.

Nixon's Historic Trip: Indochina Not on Agenda

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's historic trip to China, now narrowed down to a departure date sometime after Jan. 1, apparently will not include a Washington-Peking attempt to end the Vietnam War.

The precise dates of the visit will be announced before Dec. 1, administration officials said. But the agenda, according to White House adviser Henry A. Kissinger, probably will not include talks between Nixon and Premier Chou En-lai on the war situation.

Kissinger, who returned Tuesday from a six-day trip to Peking, told newsmen Wednesday the Nixon journey will be "designed to end the isolation of two great peoples and to begin the long process of settlement of outstanding issues" between the two countries.

But as a general rule, he added, such third party problems as the Indochina War and the friction between China and the Soviet Union will not be on the agenda.

"We expect to settle the war either by unilateral initiatives or through negotiations—not through Peking," Kissinger said.

"Both sides recognize there are profound philosophical and political differences between us," he said. "Neither side has ever pretended we will solve all or most of these difficulties."

"Both sides, in my view," he continued, "do believe there is a possibility to make a new beginning—a beginning that if carried out with wisdom and patience on both sides, can mark the start of perhaps a new relationship between our two peoples."

He appeared before reporters following a joint announcement in Washington and Peking that arrangements for Nixon's visit to China "are proceeding well."

Kissinger declined to shed any light on speculation of a power struggle in the top Chinese leadership, adding that he has "no idea whatever" about the rumored upheaval.

However, he said nothing had changed between his July 15 and Oct. 20 Peking visits to indicate a desire on either side to not proceed on schedule with the Nixon trip.

Kissinger made it clear that in walking the diplomatic tightrope during the preparatory talks with the Chinese, he did not discuss the seating of Peking in the United Nations or the U.S. two-China policy.

Inauguration of Thieu... Amnesty for Cong Captives

SAIGON (UPI)—The South Vietnamese government today announced it will free 618 Viet Cong prisoners of war Sunday to celebrate the inauguration of President Nguyen Van Thieu. The amnesty program involves eventual freedom for another 2,320 POWs and constituted the largest prisoner release of the Indochina War.

As the amnesty was announced, the U.S. command said it was putting all American troops in Vietnam on alert as of Friday because of an expected surge in Communist attacks and civil disorders this weekend.

U.S. military spokesmen said it had reports that a sharp increase in terrorist attacks, shellings and firebombings were likely to protest the inaugural.

The U.S. command also disclosed that seven American GIs were killed in the war last week, including one who died in a downed plane in Laos.

It brought to 45,584 the number of Americans killed in action in the Indochina War since Jan. 1, 1961.

The South Vietnamese lost 294 killed last week and a spokesman said "most of the deaths came in Military Region III," the 11 provinces surrounding Saigon.

To the north in Hue, floods sent six-foot deep torrents of water through streets following 36 hours of heavy rain and forced evacuation of parts of Quang Tri City.

The amnesty by the South Vietnamese government brought the largest release of POWs of the Vietnam War.

The Ministry of Defense said 618 prisoners, 176 of them partly disabled, were being released outright from POW camps throughout South Vietnam.

Another 2,320 prisoners including 36 disabled POWs are to be designated ralliers to the South Vietnamese side under the government's so-called "open arms" program for defectors. They will be freed after perhaps three months, the government said.

The Defense Ministry said the POWs involved were Viet Cong, and no North Vietnamese troops were included.

The amnesty announcement coincided with reports from the United States that members of the U.S. Senate were told that a major breakthrough on the prisoners of war issue might be imminent. The report could not be verified.

The South Vietnamese Defense Ministry communique said, "The released POWs are being given clemency from the government of South Vietnam. They have shown repentance and good discipline during their detention. They have submitted demands to be released or to enjoy the status of ralliers. The release is being done as a humanitarian gesture."

On battlefronts, South Vietnamese troops killed nine Viet Cong 44 miles southwest of Saigon in the Mekong Delta

Wednesday at a cost of four government soldiers wounded.

The South Vietnamese also reported a clash a mile west of the Central Highlands helicopter base at Tan Canh in Kontum Province. The government communique said five Viet Cong were killed without any South Vietnamese casualties.

Reports from neighboring Cambodia said Communist troops attacking in the darkness Wednesday killed 17 and wounded more than 100 Cambodian soldiers and civilians in a series of coordinated assaults north of Phnom Penh. Communist casualties were listed as 30 dead.

In Phnom Penh, the Cambodian government announced today that that national currency, known as the riel, will be floated starting Friday in what the International Monetary Fund (IMF) called a "courageous and realistic" move to curb inflation. Diplomats have described the move as a form of "de facto devaluation."

Meanwhile, in Paris, South Vietnam said today it hoped the release by Saigon of 3,938 Communist prisoners of war would get the deadlocked Vietnam peace talks moving again.

Eight Ulster County men have been appointed to serve on the newly created "Mid-Hudson Post Vietnam Planning Committee," a group whose concern will be in aiding the returning Vietnam veteran re-establish himself in the community.

The committee is an outgrowth of the Mid-Hudson Inter-County Council, comprised of leaders from six adjacent counties, including Ulster and Dutchess.

Named to the committee, according to Dutchess County Executive David C. Schoentag, chairman of the council are:

Donald MacIsaac, public relations, IBM, Kingston.
Donald F. Gunzelmann, secretary, Typographical Union Local 322, Kingston.
Dean Robert T. Brown, Ulster County Community College, Stone Ridge.
County Legislator Lester C.

Elmendorf, of District 2 (Ulster, Hurley, Marlborough and Town of Kingston).

Lt. K. C. Verbech, commanding officer, First Battalion, 156 Artillery, Manor Avenue Armory.

Major Frank W. Willett, commanding officer, 854th Battalion USAR, Flatbush Avenue, Kingston.

In Ulster as in other counties within the council, the men selected were chosen as representatives of government, business, education, labor and the professions.

In making the appointments, Schoentag said he believes "we should do all within our power to aid our returning veterans."

He said he would like to see an executive committee, which will be subsequently named, recommend a Veterans' Assistance Day at which representatives of state agencies, educational departments

Schoentag Charges Bartles With Conflict of Interest

By TIM SCHUSTER

POUGHKEEPSIE
Dutchess County Executive David C. Schoentag today charged Republican challenger William Bartles with knowingly and willingly permitting a conflict of interest misdeemeanor while Supervisor of Hyde Park.

At a Poughkeepsie press conference today, Schoentag's campaign manager, Woody Klose, said that this documented proof of Bartles' "credibility gap" with the Town Board and the people of Hyde Park effectively negates Bartles' charges of a "credibility gap in the administration of Dave Schoentag."

The statement reads in part: "In June of 1967, Town of Hyde Park voucher No. 191 was processed for payment to the Bartles Tree Service." Klose revealed, "and in December of the same year, while Bartles was still supervisor, Hyde Park voucher No. 613 was paid to the Bartles Tree Service for more town work."

"This work was done . . . while Bartles was Supervisor, in clear violation of the General Municipal Law, sections 801, 802 and 803."

Klose continued, "Section 801 states that no municipal officer or employee shall have an interest, direct or indirect, in any contract with the municipiality for which he is an officer or employee, when such officer or employee, individually or as a member of a board, has the power or duty to negotiate, prepare, authorize or approve the contract or authorize or approve payment thereunder."

Section 802 puts a limit of $100 on this in any given year. The vouchers mentioned exceed the $100 statutory limit. "Klose stated, 'Once you are over that limit, it is like being a little bit pregnant. You are within the law, or you are without the law.'"

And Section 803 says, in essence, that any such proceedings shall be publicly disclosed in writing. Bartles failed to do this.

Section 805 states that any municipal officer or employee who willfully and knowingly violates this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

On Feb. 23, 1966, Bartles revealed that he had checked into possible conflicts of interest, according to Town of Hyde Park Board minutes for that date: "Supervisor Bartles consulted the lawyer for Audit and Control as to what conflict of interests would arise from his cutting trees for the Town. The opinion given was that longer cut trees for the Town as he is now the Town supervisor."

Klose stated "Everything we found in Hyde Park is documented and true. This information is something every voter should consider before putting any credence whatsoever in Bartles' pious statements that he is the only truly honest man left in the world, the only government figure who is completely candid and open."

Supreme Court Rejects Jetport Arguments

WHITE PLAINS plans for acquisition of 8,657 acres of land near Stewart Airport, Orange County arguments against having a major jetport at the former Stewart Air Force Base were rejected almost point for point in State Supreme Court Wednesday.

Justice Leonard Rubinfeld issued a 23-page decision denying a motion for a preliminary injunction to halt of action as the basis of its suit. Rubinfeld upheld the state agencies' procedure in condemning many properties and rejected the county's argument that the move was invalid because no detailed study or masterplan for airport expansion had been developed.

In his decision, Judge Rubinfeld wrote "It is, of course, fundamental that private land may be taken only for a public use or purpose and only when the lands are necessary for such public use or purpose.

"Here the legislature has authorized the acquisition of land for the purpose of establishing, constructing (and) expanding an airport for the accommodation of domestic and international air freight transportation, general aviation and such other airport purposes. Whether such purpose of use is public in character and whether the lands were in fact acquired for such use are questions to be determined by the court."

Orange County had questioned the necessity of taking the land involved. Rubinfeld said that the county's role in determining that was "very limited."

He also rejected constitutional questions raised by the county. County attorneys contend that a section of the public authorities law had been violated because MTA and the transportation department had not gotten consent of local governing bodies before taking the land.

The judge said that "the failure of MTA and DOT to obtain the consent of the towns and villages in which real property is located does not invalidate the appropriation."

Rubinfeld refused to accept the county's claim that the Orange County Airport would be in jeopardy because of the Stewart development, saying that the "mere acquisition of title to land by MTA" does not indicate that it will affect the operation of the county's airport.

He called the allegations concerning possible loss of property rights by the county as "highly speculative and premature."

In the event a taking does occur, the county may file a claim for compensation just as any other property owner."

The county had contended that the Stewart acts so enlarge the powers of the MTA they should be considered a new act of creation. The county argued further that the Stewart acts were not a "special act" of the legislature. However, Rubinfeld said they fit that term under another section of the constitution.

In his decision the judge noted a suit brought by the Hudson River Valley Commission and a number of communities. In that case U.S. District Court Judge Marvin E. Frankel denied a similar motion to block land taking operations.

Trades Council Endorses Koenig

KINGSTON Urban Renewal advances have been cited by the Building and Construction Trades Council, AFL-CIO, as the major reason for its endorsement of the candidacy of Mayor Francis R. Koenig and Alderman-at-large T. Robert Gallo.

In making the endorsement announcement, Julius Lamanec, president of the Council, stated, "The endorsement is in recognition of the efforts of the present administration in furthering the construction and building program under Urban Renewal at a time when jobs and work for all our citizens is of critical necessity."

"Frank Koenig and Bob Gallo," continued Lamanec, "have demonstrated a willingness to work for and with all segments of our population to further the orderly growth of the city."

Lamanec concluded by saying, "The efforts of Mayor Koenig's administration is significant particularly at a time when our national and local economy is at a low ebb and jobs and work opportunities are so desperately needed."

The Building and Construction Trades Council is comprised of the Asbestos Workers, $100,000

Investigation Continuing

KINGSTON

State Police, Internal Revenue and Federal Bureau of Investigation authorities today are still trying to determine the source of $100,000 in partially decayed currency that was found under the dashboard of a car driven by Michael Francis Cahill, 43, of 157 Bruyn Avenue, Kingston, Tuesday.

Senior BCI Investigator Michael Lisman of the Hurley State Police barracks said today that the money still has not been traced. He noted, however, that Internal Revenue, through a court order, has taken custody of the money pending the outcome of civil action between federal officials and Cahill. A lien was placed on the money in case back taxes are due on it.

Cahill, meanwhile, remains free on $2,500 bail for a hearing Nov. 17 on a charge of criminal possession of a dangerous weapon — a switchblade knife.

The Democrats Didn't Meet!

How can Koenig's gang meet the challenges of tomorrow, when they didn't even meet the challenges of yesterday?

They brag about experience, but the only experience we see around town is all bad. And sad. Look at the number of businesses that have closed down under the Koenig administration. Think we're kidding — then drive around town and see! Especially Broadway.

Knapp Commission Hearings Drug Trading Linked to Policemen

NEW YORK (AP) — Detailed testimony before the Knapp Commission has painted a picture of narcotics detectives and other policemen trading drugs to informers for goods ranging from cigarettes to a minibike.

The commission, now in its second week of public hearings on police corruption, heard Wednesday from Ralph Cipriani, one of its investigators and a former FBI agent, that policemen ordered goods by brand name in exchange for heroin and cocaine.

Supported by films and tape recordings, Cipriani contended that his investigation turned up a minimum of eight policemen in Harlem who participated in the trading.

He said he thought at least one-third of the 75 narcotics detectives in the community and a number of local precinct officers had established a "very close and trusting relationship" with registered addict informants.

The commission has heard witnesses tell of widespread corruption among plainclothesmen who allegedly took payoffs from gamblers, narcotics dealers and businessmen.

Cipriani said one policeman had ordered 12 bottles of liquor for his daughter's wedding shower, specifying the brands of scotch, vodka and other spirits he wanted.

Another reportedly ordered 30 cartons of cigarettes, ruling out certain brands, and a minibike.

One officer had four bottles of liquor delivered to his home, Cipriani testified. In another instance, an informant reportedly could not find the officer who had ordered a power saw, so the informant went to the narcotics detectives' office and found another officer who agreed to make a deal.

In each case, according to the witness, the informer was given heroin or cocaine taken from addicts or pushers and not turned in as required. The policemen did not ask where the goods were coming from, he said.

Cipriani, who said the information was obtained by two informants working for the commission, told of the case where delivery of liquor to a policeman had to be delayed because "he had to attend an anticorruption meeting at his command."

Also testifying was Paul Curran, chairman of the State Investigation Commission, who denied the "disastrous effect" corruption was having on the Police Department.

He also said his agency had not concluded its investigation into why the office of Queensmore than two pounds of it during one year while he was a policeman.

In the wake of criticism that the hearings violated civil liberties, Whitman Knapp, the commission chairman, said he would allow any person who had been mentioned by name in testimony to defend himself at the hearings. He said he did not expect any response.

The detective, Joseph Devito, received a suspended sentence. Curran charged that the officer purchased heroin from "organized crime figures" and sold

Queens Dais... Kennedy Seated, Lindsay Uninvited

NEW YORK (AP) — The annual Queens County Democratic dinner, most hotly contested piece of political turf in town Wednesday night was the dais at the Kennedy who was seated and Mayor John V. Lindsay who played the unaccustomed role of the man who didn't come to dinner.

And when the political smoke cleared, it was Sen. Edward M.

Lindsay was "disinvited" to the dinner staged by the Queens County Democratic organization, reportedly at the instigation of Kennedy aides who felt Lindsay's presence would make it seem their man was actively campaigning for the party's presidential nomination.

Kennedy took the occasion before 1,500 diners at the $50-a-plate affair to deliver another harsh indictment of the Nixon administration.

He accused President Nixon of breaking his promises to end the Vietnam war, reduce inflation, and lawlessness, solve the welfare problem and "bring the country together."

The Massachusetts Democrat said the Republicans' "age-old formula" to deal with recession and unemployment "didn't work for McKinley...didn't work for Hoover and isn't working for Nixon."

Kennedy and Lindsay did meet briefly earlier in the evening at a Manhattan reception. The senator took a jocular swipe at the mayor's unofficial feeling-out campaign for the presidential nomination. He noted that prominent visitors were given keys to the city in the past, adding, "Nowadays, they offer you the vice presidency."

Lindsay was taken off the guest list at the Queens dinner by City Councilman Matthew J. Troy Jr., an old friend and ally of the Kennedys, who is the county's Democratic leader.

"We did not feel that Sen. Kennedy should be thrown into the arena and forced to undergo the inevitable embarrassment of competing with another candidate for President," Troy explained.

"I simply told the mayor that he was not invited and that if he showed up he would not be admitted."

He said that Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, whom Troy is supporting in his announced bid for the nomination, was also taken off the invitation list because of Kennedy's desire to avoid any appearance of a campaign.

Troy reportedly had second thoughts about his decision to bar Lindsay completely and offered to let him appear if he made no major address.

"I didn't want it to become anything personal," Troy said. But the mayor, who has been seeking to cement ties to his recently adopted party in many parts of the country, was said to have decided to leave Queens to Kennedy for the night.

New York Councilman Refuses Apology Demand Made by Beame

NEW YORK (AP) — City Councilman Robert I. Postel has refused City Comptroller Abraham Beame's demand for a public apology for mentioning Beame's name in connection with the besmirched Municipal Loan Program.

In fact, said Postel Wednesday, he has referred the matter to both the district attorney and the investigations commissioner for further inquiry.

"It is still entirely possible that political influence was involved and that banking laws and ethics were violated in this case," Postel, a Manhattan Democrat, said.

On Tuesday Postel charged at a City Hall hearing that Beame was a director of the American Bank and Trust Company that granted a $200,000 collateral loan to a Brooklyn real-estate firm in which two bank officers had controlling interest.

In a letter sent to Postel—a copy of which went to the City Council Committee on Charter and Governmental Operations for public record—Beame said: "In all my 25 years of public life, I have never seen such a vicious, McCarthyistic attempt to assassinate a person's character as your insinuation that I influenced city housing officials to grant a city mortgage."

"Your gratuitous injection of my name into the City Council hearings on the Municipal Loan program was an insult."

Beame said, "You owe me a public apology."

During the hearings the council committee has been investigating charges of inflated mortgages, kickbacks and other abuses of the program, which was set up nine years ago to provide loans for the rehabilitation of slum housing.

Beame pointed out in his letter that when the loan was made he was not a city official, but was running for comptroller. He said the loan had been a routine one, that he was unaware of it at the time, and that he had "never had any financial interest in any program involving the city of New York."

Favors Closing Of New York Port

NEW YORK (UPI)—James Dickman, president of the New York Shipping Association (NYSA), said Wednesday he would rather see the port of New York completely and permanently shut down than continue paying longshoremen the guaranteed annual wage of the old contract.

Dickman's statement came at a news conference held while 5,000 striking longshoremen in Philadelphia were returning to work under a court injunction. The return to work in Philadelphia was the first in Atlantic and Gulf Coast docks, most of which have been closed for 28 days because of a strike by the 45,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA). Longshoremen in New Orleans also are under a court order to return to work, but a spokesman for the

New Orleans Steamship Association said Wednesday there was no work going on at the waterfront. Union leaders, however, ordered their men back to work today.

The main disagreement between the ILA and the NYSA revolves around a provision in the contract, which expired Sept. 30, that the shippers continue paying longshoremen a guaranteed annual wage. The union insists that provision be included in the new contract. The shippers, who say the clause is too costly for them, want to change it to reduce what they call "featherbedding."

Proposed Tivoli Zoning Law Meets With Little Resistance

TIVOLI When questioned about the large area of the village zoned for the quarter-acre lots, Mayor Mortimer Appel said that some development was necessary, especially in light of the fact that the bond for the new secondary sewerage plant will raise taxes beginning next year.

It was also noted by Appel that village services, including sewerage and water, can accommodate many more persons as they now stand, making residential development a desirable asset.

The two areas zoned for quarter-acre development are the Clay Hill area and the north-central portion of the village between Woods and North Roads where Tivoli Acres site plan has been approved by the county.

Chairman Tiegler forecast that the next major planning step by the village will probably be the drawing up of comprehensive subdivision regulations.

And when some persons objected further to the predominance of quarter-acre lots, Appel said, "We have torn down more houses in the past six years than have been built. We are not worrying about a population explosion."

There will be no flashing or neon signs allowed in the village, and the policy of precluding farm animals will continue.

The Planning Board must hold one more public hearing and this must be followed by a public hearing sponsored by the Village Board. It was anticipated that the next hearing will be in about two weeks. The Village Board will make the final determination on the law.

The proposed Tivoli zoning law got its first public airing Wednesday night, and met with little resistance from about 25 residents.

Only one member remains from the original Planning Board, instituted about four years ago, Claude Potts. Chairman Bernard Tiegler succeeded former Mayor S. L. George Persinger in that role.

Tiegler explained the rationale behind the proposed law, saying that the village is comparatively sparsely populated, even compared to itself 100 years ago.

"No one feels that zoning is the last word," he said, adding that it will help "guide us between the shoals" of no development and rapid, random development.

There are six designated areas planned. Three are residential, with minimum lot sizes of 10,000 square feet, two acres, and three acres. The sizes depend largely on the topography of the land and the accessibility of the land to the village sewerage system.

Other areas are highway business along a section of Broadway, and land conservation along most of the Hudson River shore and along the Clay Kill.

There are provisions for industrial area regulations, but no designated industrial area, Tiegler said that this is to insure flexibility for future development.

There are no provisions for permanent mobile homes in the village, and there have been none for many years.

Red Hook Head Explains Addition

By TIM SCHUSTER

RED HOOK The proposed new addition to the Red Hook Town Hall, under discussion by area residents, has brought forth an explanatory message from Town Supervisor Warren Simmons.

"Since the subject of the proposed new $35,000 addition to the Town Hall has become the topic for the cross-fire at local coffee shops, rather than the objections, accusations, being aired at Town Board meetings or personally to Board members, I feel it necessary to once again explain the reasoning behind the Board's decision to go ahead with these plans," he said.

He noted that it had been voted down last year "with unjust cause and a definite lack of knowledge even though we held two nights open at the Town Building for viewing the plans with a total of approximately three persons interested," he commented.

"I say unjust because we as a Board are continuously being faced with more problems," said Simmons, pointing out that "on several occasions people have been standing outside shouting questions in the windows and are angry because they are on the outside and not a part of the meeting."

a previous statement to the press that it was the Board's desire to let the people vote the need for this urgent matter because the necessity of this addition, "we felt it was their right and privilege," but it was also noted Simmons said that some of the Board had the right previous statements have been under Town Law to proceed, as is a leading concerning the amount of money is not capacity for the new addition.

large enough to warrant a referendum. — At present we can seat 20 the new addition will seat approximately 100," he said. The full-time assessor will have a need for an office space and the town justices are also in need of more space since their workload has almost doubled of late.

The Planning Board and Board of Appeals "are constantly working under disadvantages because of the lack of room," he said, citing their many hours of work as volunteers.

"I am greatly puzzled how we as citizens of this town continue to stand behind our growing school needs and yet fail to recognize and support our governing body needs," said Simmons.

"These needs have not been met with increased tax burdens; they have been efficiently met within all departments creating a tax decrease," he noted. Simmons asked that anyone wishing to discuss the matter do so by contacting Board members or attending regular meetings.

Supervisor Sees Tax Reduction

RED HOOK am greatly pleased to be able to announce these very substantial reductions and to point out that we have acted in the interests of the taxpayers over the past two years.

Joiners

The budget will reportedly bring about a tax reduction of $5.02 per thousand in the town, where the new rate will be $17.40, and a reduction of $1.26 in the Village of Red Hook, where the rate will be $7.16 per thousand.

These are the reductions to be implemented if the budget is adopted as proposed. Supervisor Simmons said, "I may attend.

Westmoreland Despises Long Hair

Jack Anderson Says

William Westmoreland, the Army's grey eminence, is all hot-and-bothered about haircuts.

During the summer the Army began a recruiting campaign which featured advertisements in national magazines. The ads showed a photograph of a young man with long hair and carried the legend: "We care more about how you think than how you cut your hair."

This, it turns out, isn't true. General Westmoreland, at least, is more concerned about hair styles than grey matter. Orders have gone out to crack down on haircuts.

A stern memo to Army staff heads decrees that sideburns absolutely must stop "at the lowest part of the exterior ear opening." And above the ears, a soldier's hair "must not interfere with the normal wear of all standard military headgear."

By Westmoreland's hair standards, the young man in the Army advertisement would be marched to the barber.

The Army tried to stop the advertisement, but it was already in print. Now an internal circular has been issued to make clear that the youth, who posed for the recruitment ad, doesn't meet the haircut specifications.

Explains the circular sheepishly: "The advertisement is designed to appeal to young men in the 17-21-year-old group who may be considering military service. The photograph represents a individual from the group; it does NOT repeat NOT illustrate a soldier meeting the standards set by the Army."

The Army chief is dead serious about haircuts, the memo, relaying his orders, warns sternly: "Firm corrective action will be taken against those who violate the stated haircut policy, as well as those in the chain of command who fail to detect such violations or enforce prescribed standards."

While Westmoreland huffs over hairdos, the Army is torn by racial strife, drug abuse and a breakdown of discipline.

Washington Whirl
Wage Crackdown — President Nixon's economic advisers admit privately that the basic aim of this economic program is to hold down wage increases. They regard wage levels as the biggest element in the cost of production. The average wage for non-farm workers rose 6 per cent in the last fiscal year. Yet the output per man-hour rose less than 4 per cent. This meant that production costs, in order to meet the rising wage levels, had to go up. The real thrust of the President's Phase II program, therefore, is to control wage levels. The White House will go through the motions of keeping the lid on prices and will threaten to take action against excessive profits. But it's really wages that Nixon wants to control.

Railroad Handout — Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., has given substance to fears that the bankrupt Penn Central railroad will need still more federal funds to keep it running. The U.S. Treasury is already guaranteeing about $100 million in loans for Penn Central. Now Hartke, in a "Dear Jervis" letter to Penn Central trustee Jervis Langdon, Jr., has dropped a hint that the Treasury may have to be tapped again. As chairman of the Senate Surface Transportation Subcommittee, Hartke asked Langdon to stop withholding from the committee files that might be needed "in anticipating any money crisis necessitating a congressional response."

Nixon Peace — In stronger language than he has ever used in public, President Nixon assured Republican congressional leaders last week that he expects to get out of Vietnam with an "honorable" peace. He chafed behind closed doors over the senate amendments that seek to force his hand on settling the war. "Those who order amendments which indicate no confidence in the President," grumbled Nixon, "are going to look silly."

Byrd's Offer — After the White House leaked out word that President Nixon was considering Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., for the Supreme Court, Washington buzzed with rumors that Byrd had used his Senate staff to prepare his legal briefs and term papers for law school. He entered American University's law school after his election to the Senate, attended classes at night and graduated in 1963 with a high "B" average. His professors and classmates say he was an excellent student. One professor, Louis C. James, describes Byrd as one of the two most "alert and attentive students he has ever taught."

We were convinced by our investigation that the rumors aren't true. But we put the question to Byrd, who dictated this emphatic reply: "I will give $5,000 to the individual who brings to me any staff member of mine, past or present, who will say publicly and in my presence that he or she wrote any of my law school term papers, briefs or any part thereof. Further, if this absurd, vicious rumor be proved, I will resign my seat in the Senate."

Capital Chaff — A road crew recently made a deep excavation in front of the Soviet Embassy for cable repair. From behind the embassy fence, anxious Soviet plainclothesmen kept an apprehensive eye on the project, presumably fearing someone might plant a bug or worse underneath the embassy. . . . Ceylon's softly shrewd woman premier, Sirimavo Bandaranaike, taped a television interview during her recent Washington visit. Afterward, Ceylon Embassy aides discreetly phoned Metromedia's Stan Berk to find out when it would be aired. It was scheduled in the middle of a performance she would be watching at the Kennedy Center. But Mrs. Bandaranaike brought along a portable TV set, so she could sneak a look at her own performance. . . . At a Navy management forum, Rear Adm. Nathan Sonenshein was asked: "Has the leak to Jack Anderson been found yet?" Sonenshein glumly answered, "No."

Freeman Editorials

Amendment No. 1 --- 'No'

The proposed Community Development Article, or Amendment No. 1, which will be presented to the state's voters on the Tuesday ballot, is simply another example of a long tenacle of state rule in Albany reaching down into local areas. We feel it should be lopped off by the voters before it has a chance to grow.

What the proposed amendment would do is permit the state to lend or give (there's enough of that already) money to private businesses or individuals for community development projects, such as housing, urban renewal and health and environmental facilities.

Drafters of the article claim it would replace a 1938 housing article that is outmoded and much too restrictive. The present bit of legislation sharply limits the state's prerogatives in making loans and grants in the field already mentioned.

However, The Freeman agrees with the opponents of Amendment No. 1 and urges its defeat at the polls for the reasons submitted below:

● THE AMENDMENT would nullify present constitutional safeguards against loaning or giving away public money by state or local governments.

● Open the way to increased state and local debt.

● Grant sweeping powers to the state to be exercised by the Urban Development Corporation in any community of the state for a broad range of programs without any requirement for approval or opportunity for disapproval by the people of that community or their duly elected representatives.

● Empower the state to grant tax exemptions or abatements in whole or in part for periods of up to 60 years for real properties and other activities which come under the broadly defined heading of community development programs.

● Greatly expand government subsidized, tax-exempt housing and authorize counties as well as cities, towns and villages to engage in government housing projects.

● Lead to increased cash subsidies from state and local tax money for any "community development" proposal in addition to subsidized housing.

Ancient Interim Man

About 400,000 years ago there lived Pithecanthropus, the species known as the Java Man and the Peking Man, from the places where their skull bones have been discovered. About 90,000 years back, Europe's Neanderthal human lived on this earth, and he has been unearthed and extensively studied. Now in a cave in the Pyrenees, French paleontologists have found all but the lower jawbone of the head of a man who existed during the mysterious period between the lives of those other ancient, known men.

The Pyrenees Man made his mark on this planet 200,000 years in the dim past. He was skilled in crude stone tools and a mighty hunter, but he nonetheless had the face, poor fellow, that is associated with today's horror movie characters. His forehead was almost horizontal; his eyebrow bones were massive, so his eyes were very deepset; he was lantern-jawed. Although he lacked a lower jaw when found, two other jaws revealed at the site show that he was prognathous (both jaws jutting out), no doubt considered quite handsome in his day, the next-to-last Ice Age. One of the other jawbones found on the Pyrenees cave level was that of a woman. It was in better shape—she had the last word, undoubtedly.

The Pyrenean had characteristics of Pithecanthropus and predates Neanderthalensis, as could be expected from an interim man. But all scientific jargon aside, here was a fellow human, suffering intense cold, who lived out his destiny manfully with what equipment he had for existence. Would that we all could do as well.

David Lawrence Says

Taiwan's Expulsion

WASHINGTON — The vote of 76 to 35 by members of the United Nations to expel Taiwan will long remain as an inexplicable, if not one of the strangest, episodes in international history.

It was in direct disregard of the principles of international law and indeed of the simple rules of equity in a world organization.

For Taiwan was legally admitted. It was recognized as an independent nation. It had been a member since the U.N. was created. But suddenly, in order to entice Red China to accept admission in the United Nations, a majority of the General Assembly voted to oust a country which was once a part of Mainland China.

If this rule becomes a precedent, several members of the United Nations can be expelled on the same basis whenever a former mother country insists upon it.

What, then, caused such nations as Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Canada, Mexico, and even Israel, to cast their ballots with the other opponents of retention of a seat in the General Assembly for Taiwan?

There were nine NATO allies which voted in opposition to the United States. Seventeen countries abstained from voting, and three were absent.

The 6 votes in favor of expelling Taiwan constitute a record that has been construed in the United States as a defeat for this government. Resentment in Congress is widespread. Talk of retaliation by cutting down appropriations for the U.N. is being heard.

The worst damage done, however, was not administered to the prestige of the United States but to international law itself.

When a nation is independent and has been widely recognized as such for years, can it rightfully be denied its status as a member of an organization dedicated to the preservation of world peace and the support of international law?

The United Nations charter emphasizes that the organization's function is to promote the right of self-determination and independence for all countries, large and small. Again and again, colonies have broken away from a colonial status and have been admitted to the United Nations as full-fledged members. Does the action of the General Assembly this week mean that at any moment a majority vote can expel countries which have gained their independence, depriving them of the right of U.N. membership?

The United States has been one of the chief supporters financially of the United Nations. It doubtless will continue to be, notwithstanding the unfavorable impression made by the ousting of Taiwan. This is because reform will not be accomplished outside the organization but inside.

It is the countries which voted to unseat Taiwan which must really render an explanation of what motivated them to violate the rules of the organization and expel a legally elected member by a mere majority vote of the General Assembly. There had been no accusations of wrongdoing by Taiwan.

The only conclusion that can be reached is that various governments, for international political reasons, decided to take the step which it was believed would assure Red China's acceptance of the invitation to join the United Nations. But some day the record will have to be exposed or, in the long run, the U.N. will suffer and its influence in world affairs will be adversely affected.

In Washington, even those in Congress who had no special interest in the controversy now are dismayed by what has happened. Many are in favor of cutting off funds to the United Nations as well as to some of the countries which voted against the American position. This would be unfortunate, because it is not the way to correct the error that other governments have made. The task is one for American diplomacy to tackle. For it is important to get the facts as to why so many countries which are friendly to the United States felt inclined to take the communist side in this in-

Capitol Corridors

A Big Question—Small Response

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Based on recent experience, the fate of Gov. Rockefeller's $2.5-billion transportation bond issue may be decided next Tuesday by less than 15 per cent of the eligible voters in this state.

Putting the same observation another way, Rockefeller would have to win a "yes" vote from only one out of every seven voting-age New Yorkers in order to borrow and spend that money.

Sound illogical? Well, it isn't. The reason is that a big percentage of eligible voters just don't bother to register — and, of those who do, most don't bother to vote on the questions listed on the state election ballot.

When you work out the mathematics — and it's not difficult to follow — you find that the majority needed to carry or defeat the bond question could be as small as 13 or 14 per cent.

That would be an average performance. And even if the voters match their best effort of recent years on the ballot's question line, it still wouldn't take more than 20 per cent of the eligible electorate to settle the bond question.

The math works out this way:

According to the 1970 federal census, New York has 12.7 million residents of voting age, including 954,000 in the newly enfranchised 18-through-20 age bracket.

The consistent pattern is that about two thirds of the eligible voters actually register to vote in "off-year" elections. That indicates a registration of about 8.4 million.

On the average, only about 40 per cent of the registered voters bother to record their opinions on the ballot questions. Thus the total vote on the bond proposition would be about 3.36 million.

Since a simple majority decides the issue one way or another slightly more than half of that 3.36 million is needed. Half would be 1.68 million.

Now we compare that 1.68 million with the total eligible electorate of 12.7 million and we find that the decisive majority would be about 13.3 per cent.

The registration figure used above is an estimate, since the official figure is not available yet. While the official figure might be up or down a bit, it wouldn't affect the over-all percentage that much.

Again, we've been talking about a typical performance. An untypical one would be something like the showing of 1967, when about 60 per cent of the registered voters addressed themselves to the ballot questions.

It so happens that there was a transportation bond issue on the ballot that year, too. But most election experts agree that the real attraction was the remodeled State Constitution produced by the 1967 State Constitutional Convention. That document generated all kinds of controversy, including a church-state dispute over its proposal to repeal the Blaine Amendment's ban on financial aid to parochial schools.

The new constitution was spurred by the electorate that year, while the bond issue was approved. The volume of voting on all the ballot questions was abnormally high.

But, even if it reached 60 per cent again this year, the total vote would be only about 5 million, and a simple majority of slightly more than 2.5 million would decide the issue. That would be only 20 per cent of the eligible electorate.

The voting percentages don't seem very high, when you consider the related problems. For example, Rockefeller says taxes might have to be raised or state aid cut back in proportion to the bond borrowing, if it is denied. Critics complain that passage of the bond proposal would sink the state seriously into debt.

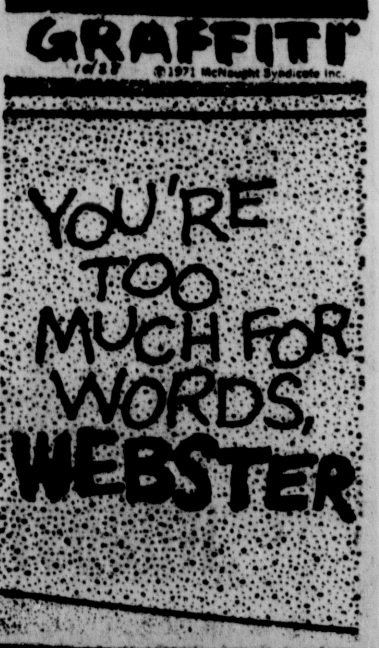

It's a big question — for such a small response.

KEN E. OSTERHOUDT

United Way Post Given Osterhoudt

KINGSTON

Ken E. Osterhoudt, assistant vice president of Rondout National Bank and manager of its Woodstock office, has accepted the chairmanship of the United Way of Ulster County drive in the Woodstock-West Hurley area.

Osterhoudt is a native of Ulster County, having been born and raised in Stone Ridge and spending his working years in the Woodstock area. He is a past president of the Ulster Chapter of American Institute of Banking, past treasurer for some ten years of the Ulster County Chapter of Muscular Dystrophy, past president (Charter) of the Onteora Lions Club, a candidate for public office both on the Town of Marbletown level and in the 2nd Legislative District of Ulster County. Osterhoudt has been active in other community activities in the county. In the Woodstock area, Osterhoudt has served as treasurer of the Woodstock Library and is currently treasurer of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsman.

Osterhoudt urges the residents of the Woodstock-West Hurley area to support the United Way of Ulster County this year to the very best of their ability, remembering that instead of 15 people asking for a contribution, The United Way of Ulster County will solve these requests in just one big drive.

"So don't dig in and give a dollar, because you know that if 15 people came to your door for 15 drives, you would in most cases hand them one dollar each," Osterhoudt said. "Think over your contribution and give so that others less fortunate might get the help and service that they need."

Osterhoudt feels that a goal of $10,000 can be realized in Woodstock-West Hurley with the help and cooperation of the entire communities. Anyone not contacted, may stop by or send his contribution to Mr. Osterhoudt at the Rondout National Bank in Woodstock.

Treatment Plant Funding Sought By Rep. Fish

KINGSTON

Rep. Hamilton Fish, Jr. in a bid to get fair Federal funding for sewage treatment plants in New York State has joined a bipartisan effort by the New York Congressional delegation, urging the House Committee on Public Works to change the present federal assistance formula.

Under terms of the original Water Pollution Control Act, to speed sewage plant construction, New York State contracted to pre-finance such projects, with the understanding that such pre-funding would be reimbursed by the Federal government.

Due to inadequate Federal funding, along with an unrealistic pre-payment payback formula, in the six years the act has been in effect, the backlog of prepayment debt now owing New York State is approximately $1.1 billion.

Under a proposed new formula, endorsed by the New York delegation, New York and 27 other states which have entered into such pre-financing arrangements would begin to be paid the money now owing them.

Under the new plan, 45 per cent of treatment plant appropriations would be divided on the basis of population, with 20 per cent additional going to those states such as New York which have matching aid programs, while another 25 per cent of appropriations would be earmarked for reimbursement of state pre-payment.

Because of the failure of the Federal government to repay New York the money it owes us, what New York taxpayers have been doing is pay on the state level for a disproportionate share of treatment plant costs in our state, while our Federal tax dollars have been going to states which have no pre-payment arrangements, and have made no particular effort to alleviate pollution in their states," Congressman Fish said.

Nirenberg Wants Motor Vehicle Branch

WAWARSING — A branch office of the Motor Vehicle Bureau in the Town of Wawarsing has been called for by Democratic candidate for the County Legislature Alex J. Nirenberg.

Nirenberg said it was unfair for Wawarsing residents to have to drive 30 miles to Kingston to buy their license plates and conduct other motor vehicle business.

"Considering that Orange County has branch offices in Port Jervis, Middletown and Newburgh as well as its main office in Goshen, I do not see why this area should not have a branch office, especially considering the large number of automobiles that are registered from our area," said the candidate.

He said the county was losing money from people from the southern Ulster area purchasing their license plates in Orange and Sullivan Counties rather than Kingston, and the increased revenue from a branch office in the Wawarsing area would possibly pay for itself as well as be a convenience.

He proposed locating the facility in Napanoch "... to give that area a greatly needed shot in the arm." He said he intended to talk to Napanoch residents to see if they wanted the facility. If not, he proposed locating it in Ellenville or Kerhonkson.

Nirenberg said the location of the facility in the Wawarsing area would be "not asking more than our rightful share," and said, "In any event this could be a great boon to the Southern part of Ulster County, an area which has been the Cinderella area for so many years."

The accident occurred at 3:45 a.m. today. Troopers charged Adams with driving while intoxicated. He is scheduled to appear before Town of Hurley Justice C.H. DuMont on Nov. 16 to answer the charge, said troopers.

Comerford was arrested by Deputies Donald Polcastro and Donald Sullivan at 11:20 p.m. Wednesday on Morgan Hill Road in the Town of Hurley with seven packages of fireworks in his possession.

He was arraigned before Town of Kingston Justice Richard Alberstadt and pleaded guilty.

SENTENCE COMMUTED — The life sentence of 1930s trunk murderer Winnie Ruth Judd has been commuted to time served in prison. A final decision stemming from Gov. Jack Williams' commutation action in Phoenix, Ariz., rests with the State Board of Pardons and Paroles. Mrs. Judd, 66, was convicted in 1932 of the shooting death of Agnes Anne LeRo on Oct. 17, 1931. Man Innocent Of Murder

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (UPI) — Eugene Perry, 31, of Malone, Fla., was found innocent Wednesday of a murder charge in the fatal shooting of a fellow migrant worker Sept. 12 in the town of Barker.

A Niagara county court jury of 10 men and two women deliberated for two hours before reaching the verdict. Perry was charged in the shotgun death of Richard Battles. Police said an argument over a girlfriend apparently triggered the incident.

Both men worked at the Conolly labor camp.

Student Drops From Race For Mayor

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP) — The youngest person ever to qualify here as a mayoral candidate says he's dropping out of the race "because I've run into a lot of trouble lately with school and other things."

Craig S. Brown, 20, a sophomore at the University of Rhode Island, was the only one of four aspirants to get enough signatures to qualify as a candidate to oppose Mayor Robert F. Burns.

Brown said Wednesday he didn't realize that the campaign would require his making public appearances. A Pawtucket fraternal organization official had criticized him for not speaking before groups.

Brown can not remove his name from ballots which already have been printed for Tuesday's election. Absentee and shut-in ballots have already been distributed.

Plane Hijack Victims Arrive in San Juan

SAN JUAN (AP) — The passengers and most of the crew of the hijacked American Airlines 747 jumbo jet arrived in San Juan Wednesday night, and one of them who witnessed the hijacking said at no time did he see any action from the three sky marshals or the off-duty FBI man who were aboard.

Marvin W. Schwartz, a freelance photographer from New York, said the first he knew that any such protection was aboard was after the landing at Havana. He said a voice called over the loudspeaker for the federal agents to come forward, but "no one made a move."

Two American jetliners sent to Havana Wednesday afternoon brought 250 passengers and seven crew members to San Juan. They appeared in good health and lively spirits after their two-day detour through Cuba.

The Federal Aviation Administration said the jumbo jet was expected to arrive in San Juan later today.

Schwartz said the hijack took place about 40 minutes after the plane took off from New York Monday night for Puerto Rico. He said the hijacker was about 25 years old, 5 feet 4 inches tall and wore dungarees with a Puerto Rican flag sewn on one leg.

The photographer said he tried to speak to the man in English and Spanish, but got only the clipped reply: "I don't want to say anything." Enrique Burgos, a San Juan lawyer aboard the flight, said the hijacker was "a Puerto Rican who couldn't find work in New York."

Schwartz said he was about four feet from the stewardess who was taken hostage. He said the hijacker held a fountain pen under a blanket and told the girl he wanted to go to Havana.

An FAA spokesman in Washington had said Monday night that three sky marshals and an off-duty FBI agent were aboard the plane. Another passenger, Robert Callaghan, a former Navy officer, said Cuban officials handed over a revolver believed to be the hijack weapon and six bullets to "an FBI officer" a few moments before they left Havana for San Juan. The FBI office in San Juan refused to comment.

Funeral will be held from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith Avenue, Friday, October 29 at 8:45 a.m. thence to St. Catherine Labourer Church where a Mass of the Resurrection will be sung at 9:30 a.m. for the repose of her soul. Interment in St. John's Cemetery, Middle Village, L.I. Friends will be received Wednesday 7 to 9 and Thursday 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Layoffs Slated At Remington

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — Additional layoffs of 275-280 workers at the Remington Rand plant here were announced Wednesday.

The layoffs, in the manufacturing and assembly sections of the typewriter division, will take place in the two weeks following Dec. 3, company spokesmen said.

Employment at the plant now stands at about 700. The peak employment, a year ago, was 2,500.

The company announcement of the layoffs referred to the Elmira operation as "marginal," although Rand officials have denied reports that the plant here will be closed.

Roosevelt Principal Replaced In Wake of Racial Trouble

HYDE PARK, N. Y. (UPI)—Gilbert Pearson, principal of Roosevelt High School, where fighting erupted last week between blacks and whites, has been replaced.

Kenneth Duprey, superintendent of the Hyde Park Central School District, announced at a public meeting Wednesday night that Pearson had been transferred to the district's administration department. His job was not disclosed.

Taking over as principal was Alfred H. Isaacson, Duprey said. Isaacson was Pearson's assistant.

Duprey also disclosed that five students were suspended for their role in creating the disturbance which forced the school to close last Friday. It reopened Tuesday under tight security, with police on duty.

Roosevelt High has 1,150 students, including 43 blacks. The fighting involving both blacks and whites erupted in the cafeteria and spilled out into the school yard and nearby streets.

Ulster Conservatives Oppose Bond Issue

KINGSTON

The Ulster County Conservative Party is opposed to the Transportation Bond proposal, the Community Development proposal, and a proposal to allow communities to exceed their debt limits for the construction of sewage treatment facilities. All are on the ballot next Tuesday. A vote in favor of any of them, according to the Conservatives would be "an act of suicide."

The statement from the Conservatives, signed by Party Chairman Harry Hoffman Jr., contends that the state misused the billion dollar bond issue in 1967 and that approval of the proposed $2.5 billion bond issue for 1971 would be saying that the taxpayers "approve of irresponsible government spending."

The Conservatives feel that the community development proposal would take away historic safeguards in the state constitution and could lead local governments into "financial ruin and bankruptcy."

"Pollution control is a problem that will always be with us," the Conservatives state. "Something must be done about it but Amendment No. 2... is not the answer. It has to be done on some kind of pay as you go, local expenditure type of system."

"The New York State taxpayer is the highest taxed citizen in the country now," the statement concluded. "To approve Proposition No. 1 and Amendment No. 1 would be an act of suicide by the taxpayers of the state."

Members of the Shandaken Planning Board are expected to petition the Town Board at its annual preliminary budget hearing Nov. 4 in an attempt to get more money to expand their services and capabilities.

Frederick Muehleck, chairman of the Planning Board, said today that the Town Board appointed group had applied for $15,000 in operating expenses for 1972. Instead, their share of the 1972 Shandaken Town budget has been set at $1,100, which is still $600 less than last year.

Muehleck said the $15,000 would be used to obtain professional planning advice, to help chart the course for future expansion within the township.

The chairman explained that the Planning Board had applied for $7,500 in 1971, but received only $1,700. They doubled their request for next year, but were allotted only $1,100. "We don't know if we'll be able to change their minds," said Muehleck, "but we'll sure make an effort."

Muehleck explained that the Town Board has recently approved a resolution adopting the Ulster County Planning Board's model sub-division regulations.

"That's at least a step," he said, "but we still have a long ways to go, and we'll need more money to do it."

Less Salary, Equipment Asked By Highway Candidate

TOWN OF KINGSTON A lower salary for the Town of Kingston highway superintendent and less highway equipment, is being called for by the Democratic-Conservative candidate for highway superintendent, William J. Ferguson.

In a press release issued today, he announced his plan to improve town roads and at the same time hold down taxes.

"Impossible?" he asks, "absolutely not! The amount of town money that has been wasted in the highway budget in recent years is truly amazing.

While the cost to the taxpayers has increased faster than inflation, in general, the condition of town roads has deteriorated.

"This trend can be reversed if we reconcile ourselves to the fact that our town is not large enough to maintain and operate the amount of equipment necessary to do the job. None of our equipment is being utilized as much as two per cent of the time! Yet, we encounter large capital expenditures and repair costs associated with maintenance and storage of town road equipment.

Ferguson suggests that:

- "The superintendent of highways job is largely management and clerical in that he doesn't personally drive the plows and fix the roads. Let's reduce the salary by $500 a year and put this amount in item one for road improvement.
- "Why purchase and maintain equipment that is used so few days a year? Let's contract out these services, eliminate capital expenditures and repairs, thus freeing more tax dollars for road improvement, where it really belongs.
- "Why let political hacks decide which town road gets attention? Let's establish which town roads get how much money each fall at the budget hearing. The public can speak at these hearings and help force the town board into allocating funds for repair of needy roads. I will prepare estimates of improvement costs, based on bids submitted prior to the budget meeting, to guide residents and town board members in their selection.
- "The present town truck can be kept for emergency snow service. Other road equipment can be sold. Space in the town garage can be rented, putting these monies into road improvement and reduction of taxes.

Chontos: Time for Change in Esopus

ESOPUS of the townspeople, including many long-time Republicans, that it is time for a change. Citing several reasons Chontos observed, "People are complaining about many facets of town government, most of which were responsible for my candidacy for councilman. The Town Board is no longer responsive to the wishes of the people, preferring to delay, to ignore, and to study, rather than act when action is needed.

"The board has gained the reputation of being a paper mill," grinding out laws, resolutions, and ordinances which are either not enforced, or unenforceable as written. They are "passing the buck" to the residents by insisting they sign a formal complaint before a constable can act, even though the violations are obvious. The constables are being stripped of their power, and the board has yet to start action to upgrade the status of these men to police officers," he charged.

"People are fed up with their wishes being given second priority to political, personal and patronage-based decisions and appointments."

Chontos concluded that "This is not an accusation directed at all members of the board, for some have been doing an excellent job but have been hamstrung continually by those guilty of lapses of responsibility. I agree that it is time for a change of this situation.

"There are many fine candidates seeking office this year, and also some who are totally unqualified. I urge all voters to choose knowingly and carefully."

GOP Election Tabs Committee

ESOPUS The annual election of the Town of Esopus Republican Committee was held recently with the following committeemen attending: Frank Kelly, Robert Graney, Peter Letus, E. Stirling Potter, Cass L. and J. Clarence, Bowman, James Folwell, Barbara Read, Chet Du Mond Jr., Clifford Avery.

Re-elected unopposed was Frank Kelly for the office of

Trade Board Sponsors Night

SHANDAKEN The Big Indian-Olive Board of Trade sponsored a candidates night at the Valley View House in the Town of Shandaken recently with trade president Erich Griesser acting as moderator.

Raymond Dunn, unopposed candidate for reelection for supervisor, explained the accomplishments of his present term in office including the passing of the sign and junk car ordinances.

Archie Aley, Republican incumbent candidate for superintendent of highways, explained that "not much is being done on paving roads in the township because of digging ditches, and most time is spent on sub-divisions."

Four Juveniles Are Captured

TOWN OF SAUGERTIES Four juveniles from Connecticut were picked up Wednesday on the State Thruway by Trooper John Turck after they were found in possession of a car reportedly stolen in Hartford, Conn.

The boys, all under 16, were held pending the arrival of authorities from Connecticut. The stolen vehicle belonged to Joseph Formica of 821 Wethersfield Street, Hartford.

Police said the four also were questioned about a burglary in Pelham, Westchester County.

The Other Day

An acquaintance said, "Once again we will be paying homage to all who have served their country this Veterans' Day, November eleventh." He said, "As we all know, it was formerly called 'Armistice Day,' dating from the end of World War I in 1918, and in addition to memorializing and saluting those who have served, it would be good to bring home to ourselves the meaning of the word 'Armistice.' In part, it means an ending to hostilities, and if we further translate that to mean to be at peace with ourselves and our neighbors, it can be a great day." Happy Veterans' Day!

Allen Cites Accomplishments

RHINEBECK Supervisor William Allen today reviewed the accomplishments of his past two years as supervisor, pointing up closer cooperative ties with other governmental units as a plus.

Allen is the Republican Conservative candidate to retain his job.

He said he believes he has made "considerable headway" in forming closer ties. "At every opportunity I have tried to enlist the assistance of the state and county," he said, noting "numerous trips" to Albany and Poughkeepsie on town business.

"The state, at my request, through the Department of Transportation, resurfaced the Rhinecliff-Rhinebeck Road (Route 308 west)," he stated.

"In addition, the state came with its equipment to help us construct a new launch site at the town dock."

Allen said the county has responded to his request to resurface Slate Quarry Road, and is helping the town with the elimination of a corner at Schultz Hill Road. The county has also prepared plans for rebuilding at Hogs Bridge.

Cooperation with the Village of Rhinebeck has also been accomplished in regard to use of equipment and the common use of a maintenance man for both of the respective buildings. And the two highway departments sometimes help each other out.

Allen stated that he has constantly employed the state and county purchasing bids for town.

One example of such a savings was the purchase of a new grader listed at $26,000 from a private supplier; the town paid $17,264 through a state bid. Future items the Board wishes to purchase include a new snow plow, a back hoe, and several smaller items.

Allen said he is not spending much time campaigning because of the press of preparation of the budget and other demands of running the town.

Simmons Defends His Record

RED HOOK Supervisor Warren Simmons has defended his administration of the past four years against a charge of "hanky panky" from Democratic challenger Walter Bayer.

Simmons said, "My opponent greatly surprises me when he chooses to start his campaign speeches with somewhat smear remarks on the Town Board, such as 'hanky panky' going on."

He asked that this charge be backed up by some substantiated proof, adding that he thinks the Town Board has shown consistently a regard for keeping taxes down. Simmons said that taxes have actually been lowered in the 1971 and 1972 budgets. "With the tax drop this year alone it seems highly unjust to say your tax dollar has been wasted," he noted.

Simmons also took Bayer to task for his remarks regarding the Vandalia Homes project, rejected by the Board.

"The Board was in no time in favor of this project, but rather remained neutral until all phases with town and county governing bodies had been studied," said Simmons.

"Hasty decisions could very definitely cause the taxpayers money under the letter of our governing laws," he said. "Our decision was not based on political suicide, just plain realistic facts . . ."

And the supervisor continued, "I have never resorted to smear type campaigns, and do not intend to start now . . . Mr. Bayer and I have been acquainted through business and community affairs for many years," he said.

Republican Harold Lasher, Longtime Resident of Tivoli

TIVOLI Emma Du Bois and their daughter, Mrs. David Block, serves as Dutchess County Vice-Chairman of the Republican Party.

Lasher is a member of the Watts-DePeyster Methodist Church; the Monumental Lodge No. 374 F.A.M.; chief of the Tivoli Volunteer Fire Company; and Past President of Mid-Hudson-Harlem Valley Fire Chiefs Association. He lists his sole hobby as fire training.

The Town of Red Hook Republican Committee endorsed him for another term because of his experience, his 52 years as a local businessman, and his 73 years of residency in Tivoli.

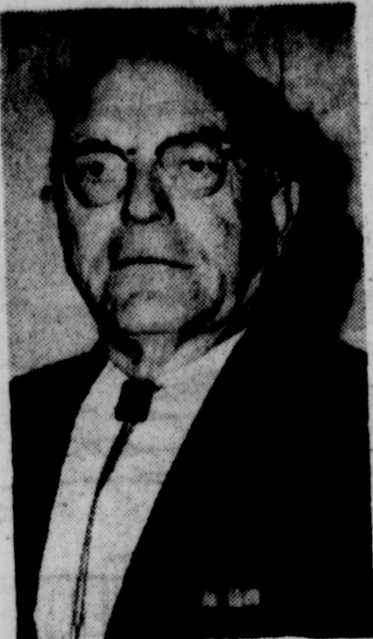

"If you're worried that he might move out of town right after the election, you can forget it. Harold has been a resident of Tivoli since 1898."

So read the words in a release on Republican candidate for councilman Harold Lasher in Red Hook.

Lasher has been in office for 16 years as a councilman and has no intentions of quitting yet, although the Democrats will furnish opposition at the polls in November.

He attended Tivoli Union Free School and has been self-employed as operator of Lasher's Garage in Tivoli for 52 years.

He is married to the former

Campaign Views Issue in Red Hook

RED HOOK administrative duties in addition to court duties.

The Town Committee cites the judge's experience, his knowledge of the community, and his "demonstrated ability to deal fairly and impartially with all those who appear in court."

Mrs. Agner has held the post of Clerk for 12 years, succeeding her late husband George at the job.

She has lived at 34 Elizabeth Street for the past 38 years, and lists 14 years in local government before her election as Town Clerk.

The job entails keeping vital statistical and license records in the town in order, and duties have increased in recent years.

Two more longtime Republican office-holders in the Town of Red Hook have issued campaign statements through the Republican Committee — Justice Ellmore Fraleigh and Clerk Idella Agner.

Justice Fraleigh has held his post for six years. He is a lifetime resident of Red Hook, residing with his wife Barbara at Rose Hill Farm. They have two sons and a daughter.

Justice Fraleigh has operated his farm, in partnership with his father and by himself, since 1931.

In addition to serving as Town Justice, he acts in the full capacity of a member of the Board with legislative and

Three Injured In Dutchess

RED HOOK Minor injuries were reported to three Dutchess County teenagers Wednesday night as the result of a two-car collision at the intersection of Route 199 and River Road, just east of the Kingston Rhinecliff Bridge.

State Police from Rhinebeck reported that a car driven by Donald Williams, 49, of Kingston was traveling east on Route 199 at 10:05 p.m. Wednesday when an auto operated by Harvey Kilmer, 18, of Red Hook, pulled into its path from River Road.

Two 17-year-old Elizaville youths, Robert Sweeting and Kenneth Shook, passengers in the Kilmer car, and Kilmer, sustained lacerations and abrasions. They were taken to Northern Dutchess Hospital in Rhinebeck by Fatums Ambulance, where they were released after treatment.

Coller: Candidacy Reasons

WOODSTOCK, N.Y. — Quoting one of the many reasons she has met on the campaign trail, Mrs. Coller has been asked, "Why are you running against Marge Harder?" (Republican candidate). "Don't you know you can't beat her?" she said. "The town would depend on the health and welfare of one individual."

Local LWV Urges Study On Development Article

Careful study of the Community Development Article, Amendment 1, which will appear on the Nov. 2 ballot is urged by the Kingston League of Women Voters, which supports the measure.

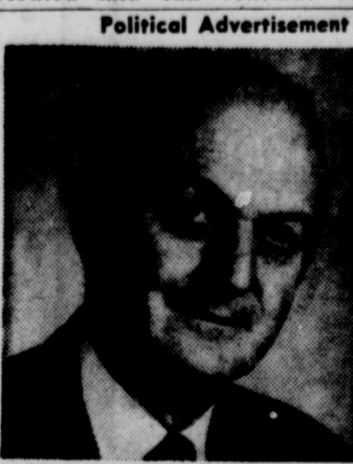

Calling it a complex issue, the League said some specific objections to CDA have been raised for instance:

- It has been charged that the Community Development Article will abolish local zoning. Actually, the CDA gives the State no zoning power that the State does not presently have.
- To the statement that the CDA is too broad. The Kingston LWV feels that the State Constitution should be a statement of broad policies, leaving to the Legislature the responsibility for formulation of statutes to fit individual communities needs.
- To the statement that the CDA will endanger existing safeguards against irresponsible spending, the LWV answers that this ballot question would not authorize any state debt or local spending. It requires the State Legislature to give permission for any future state programs, and the requirement for a referendum on all state borrowing is continued. Passage of the Community Development Article will not repeal the Local Finance Article. Under the Local Finance Article, the local governments are bound by the general debt limits set for them in the present LFA of the Constitution.

- It has been charged that passage of CDA will give the Urban Development Corporation more power. To this the Kingston LWV says: The UDC has operated and can continue to operate without this change in the Constitution. The UDC already has floated its own bond issue and can use federal subsidies for low-income housing.

The Kingston LWV feels that the Community Development Article has grown out of a new awareness of two important concepts: First, that a good place to live, either in the city, the country or the suburbs, involves more than just houses. It must have jobs, clean air and water, health services, transportation and cultural and recreational facilities.

Gardner Wants More Response

WOODSTOCK, N.Y. — "Woodstock needs a town board that responds to the wishes of the people," according to John Wesley Gardner, Democratic candidate for town councilman.

A senior maintenance engineer at the Bearsville Sound Studio, Gardner says Woodstock needs a town board that is not afraid to enforce existing laws and ordinances. "It needs a town board that will spend tax dollars wisely and fight for the rights of the private citizen. . . it needs a town board which will make sure you get a fair return on state and federal tax dollars."

RV Scholarship Fund Dinner-Dance Set Nov. 13

KYSERIKE
The fifth annual dinner-dance of the Rondout Valley Scholarship Fund, Inc. will be held Saturday, Nov. 13, at the Williams Lake Hotel, according to Mrs. Charles Denkensohn, president.

Tickets for the event cost $25 per couple, with all proceeds to be used for scholarships for graduates of the Rondout Valley High School.

The event will begin with a 7 p.m. cocktail hour, to be followed by a prime ribs dinner at 8 p.m.

The Rondout Valley Scholarship Fund, Inc. is the only community group awarding general scholarships to local college-bound students, and depends entirely on the proceeds of the dinner-dance and the contributions or area organizations and individuals.

Since 1965, 25 scholarships totaling $5,900 have been awarded to RVC students who have gone on to college. Two of the scholarships are provided by Bank Brothers Plumbing and Heating Corporation, established in 1970 and administered by the Fund's Board of Directors.

Speaking recently of the Fund's efforts, Mrs. Denkensohn said, "Like the other directors, I am very much interested in students and scholarships, and find it extremely gratifying being a part of helping any students we can to further their education." She added, "We are very grateful for what we can do and hope in the future we will be able to do more. It is very frustrating to be able to choose only five from so many wonderful candidates."

Directors of the Fund, in addition to Mrs. Denkensohn, are: Arthur Chipp, Mrs. William Coler, Robert Davenport, Mrs. Al Emmenling, Clarence Hansen, Franklin Kelder, Warren Larrabee, Mrs. Edward O'Connor and John Wilkie.

Dr. Paul Dudley White — Enchants Multitude

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON — If there ever was a living testament to good health, it has to be Dr. Paul Dudley White, physician for the late President Eisenhower, foremost authority on heart disease, and a Kingston visitor on Wednesday. Eighty-five years old—yet physically spry and mentally sharp—Dr. White amazed and enchanted hundreds who saw and met him during his day-long stay in Kingston.

His trip here was sponsored by the Mid-Hudson Heart Association, as a way of introducing its forthcoming lecture series on the high risk factors of heart disease. It was on this subject that he spoke, before a packed house, at the Kingston High School Auditorium Wednesday night. But, earlier in the day, during a press conference and reception at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Dr. White spoke at length on two of his activities that have gained worldwide attention: his recent visit to Mainland China, and his years as President Eisenhower's physician in the 1950's.

Dr. White told how he urged Eisenhower to abandon plans for a second term as President, and to travel, instead, as an international "ambassador for peace." "He would have been very successful," said Dr. White, "because he was loved throughout the world." But, he added, "the Republicans needed him too much."

It was for the cause of international goodwill and cooperation that Dr. White traveled to Mainland China several weeks back. His visit there, said Dr. White, may help improve communications between the Communist giant and the rest of the western world.

But Dr. White refrained from discussing the political repercussions of his China trip, and instead concentrated on the medical insights he gained by meeting the Chinese people firsthand.

"They're a very healthy people," he observed, "healthier than we are." He explained that many of the Chinese people are laborers; that they haven't encountered many of the "luxuries" common to Americans, and are, as a result, less prone to coronary heart disease than citizens in this country.

It was this "environment" factor that Dr. White stressed throughout his visit to Kingston. All the trappings of an advanced and prosperous society—time and step-saving gadgets, tobacco, drugs, a rich diet, obesity—are paid off many times over in more numerous instances of heart disease.

To illustrate his point, Dr. White displayed a drawing of the typical heart-diseased American: a glassy-eyed male with a ponderous midsection; a beer in one hand, a sandwich in the other; cigarette drooping from the mouth; propped up in an easy chair, an arm's length away from the T.V.

"Exercise has got to replace labor," he stressed. "We should walk every chance we get. We should spend a third of our time exercising our brains, and another third exercising our muscles. It's time we stopped letting others exercise for us."

Dr. White has no reservations about the damaging effects of cigarette smoking, although alcohol, in moderation, is tolerable. Vitamins often prove useless, he added, and the contention that sexual activity for those with heart disease can be harmful is often unfounded.

"Heart disease can be prevented," said Dr. White, "and we can also treat it, but we need more private support. We can't always take the necessary risks with government money."

"Risk was a word used over and over by Dr. White Wednesday: the risk a person takes when he rides instead of walks; lights up a cigarette; eats too much; or falls prey to the technological advances that make life easier, but shorter. The war against heart disease mortality can be won, often through the efforts of each individual.

As if to prove his point, Dr. White refused a police escort from the Governor Clinton Hotel to Kingston High School, and instead elected to travel the distance on foot.

"It keeps me from falling asleep," said the 85-year-old Dr. White, "and it makes me feel good."

Politicians Make Final Points At New Paltz Candidates Night

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ — Wednesday night was Candidates' Night in New Paltz, as the candidates made their final points in the last major public gathering before elections next Tuesday.

The affair was sponsored by the New Paltz League of Women Voters, the American Association of University Women, the New Paltz Homeowners Association, and the Springtown Homeowners Association, and held in the Middle School Auditorium before a crowd of about 250.

The two Republican incumbent county legislators, Peter J. Savago and Louis H. Bevier, are running on their records and the record of the County Legislature as a whole. Bevier emphasized the work he had done to bring the proposed park to the Ulster County Home site for the benefit of Gardiner and New Paltz residents. Savago aroused cheers when he said money had been appropriated by the County Legislature to do the initial engineering for the raising of the grade of Route 299 west of the Wallkill River. The area through which this road travels has flooded nearly every year for the past 300, and the road has flooded right along with it.

Democratic candidate for county legislator David Frantzenberg said there was a need for greater understanding of how national and state issues affected Ulster County and he could supply it. He cited the drug problem and traffic congestion as areas which needed more anticipation. He called it the "issue of lag." The other Democratic candidate for the Legislature, Bob Johnston, didn't show up, no reason given. Incumbent Town Supervisor Anthony J. Moriello, the Republican is running on his record. He noted New Paltz was the fastest growing town in the county, and this caused problems. He cited a number of accomplishments, particularly in the areas of recreation and planning.

Thomas Nyquist, the Democratic candidate for supervisor, called for more careful planning, more fiscal responsibility, less cronyism and conflict of interest, and a code of ethics for the town. He also wanted more town-village cooperation.

Republican incumbent councilman candidate Dominick Sregola said firm decision making and a sense of what the community needed were required on the board and he would supply both.

He called for more investigation into the incorporation of the village as an aid to securing "total community cooperation."

Republican councilman candidate George Mackey pledged his best efforts, and said much of the criticism of past town board actions amounted to "Monday morning quarterbacking." He is running for the two-year seat. Running for a four-year seat is Republican David Jewett, who said he knew what service was and would deliver it if elected, and called for a joint town-village police force.

Democratic councilman candidate Edwin Ralph Kulseng, running for a four-year term, said the most critical problem facing New Paltz was drug abuse. He said the $10,000 in the town's preliminary budget for the Narcotics Guidance Council could be better spent if the council's Project Change were combined with programs at the public schools and the college. He also called for reinstitution of a limited methadone program.

Carol Roper, a Democratic councilman candidate, running for a two-year term, said she had hesitated about getting into politics because of the possibility of a dirty campaign, but found her fears groundless.

She said the campaign had been "so clean it has almost been sterile." Noting the presence of a traffic cop at the Barker's intersection, a bad local bottleneck, she said she thought her position paper on the subject had helped get him there, and hoped he would be there after Election Day.

In response to a question from the floor, Mrs. Roper said she was not using her former association with the League of Women Voters as a political "springboard," and was a past president of the league, not president as had been previously reported.

John Jacobson, a Democratic councilman candidate, was not present, sending a note expressing his regrets and saying a "longstanding commitment" caused him to be out of town.

Dorothy Grigsby, the Democratic candidate for town justice, gave her opinion of what a town justice should be and how the job should be performed. S. Parks Glenn, the Republican incumbent, who will be leaving the town board after 12 years, whether he is reelected or not since town justices will no longer serve on the board when New Paltz becomes a first class town Jan. 1, used the occasion to go over the change in New Paltz from "rural farm living to suburbia."

The night opened with a short discussion of the Community Development Article on the November ballot. Mrs. Jean-Elizabeth Brinckerhoff, of the nette Thomas of the League of New Paltz Homeowners Association, spoke against it, saying it would cut through a lot of red tape and get more housing in the state. Mrs. government."

Five new members were initiated into the American Legion Auxiliary of Lamoree-Hackett Unit 72 of Saugerties at the last meeting held at the Post Home on John Street on October 14. In addition to the adult members, Kelly Marie Hogan, six year old granddaughter of Mrs. Ruth Hogan, immediate past president of the unit, was accepted as a member under the newly authorized action of the delegates at the American Legion National Convention which was held in Oregon August, 1970 and became effective with 1971 memberships. This is the first granddaughter to join the Saugerties unit. Other new members are the Mmes.

Beverly Freer, Edith Stage, Arlene Whitaker, Alma Whitaker and Virginia Whitaker. Participating in the ceremonies were Mrs. Evelyn Carnright, president; Mrs. Ann Johnson, chaplain; Mrs. Lois Maines, Sargeant-at-Arms and Mrs. Rita Sachs, second vice president.

It was reported by Mrs. Carnright that Unit 72 was awarded five citations at last month's Ulster County meeting, three of which were concerned with the excellent work attributed to Mrs. Catherine VanGaasbeek, membership chairman. One award was given for meeting the goal of 84 paid members by December 31, 1970; another award for exceeding the goal by a total of 104 members for the year, and having the total membership fund sent into the county by January 1971. Another citation was received for the unit's contribution to the American Legion Mountain Camp at Tupper Lake and the enrollment of a junior member under the new ruling of membership. Mrs. VanGaasbeek was given a standing ovation by the members of her fine job.

Under other business the unit unanimously agreed to sponsor a newly formed Brownie Scout Group in the Barclay Heights area and to present it with an American Flag in the near future. The annual contribution to the American Legion Camp was also approved, as was the contribution to the county fund for the Games held for the pleasure of the veterans at the Albany Veterans Administration Hospital.

Special committee reports for the month were given as follows: membership, 40 paid up; cancer, 15 pounds of white material and three pounds of nylon stockings; rehabilitation, 10 lap robes made by Mrs. Marge Kerbert from old woolen skirts and backed with flannel for the veterans hospital, $400 worth of men's clothing and other items for needy families; 65 yards of materials and four dollars worth of thread was donated to a charitable organization for the making of children's clothing under Child Welfare and Junior Activities; Community Service benefited by three members working 17 hours with scouting groups and registration on Primary Day; Eight bonds were bought by members under National Security; coupon chairman reported 2628 regular coupons collected bringing the total to 4120 for the year and meeting the set quota from the county, and $23.02 worth of cash value coupons of which all Betty Crocker coupons are contributed to the Kidney Machine Fund.

The next meeting of the unit will be held on November 11 at 8 p.m. at the Post Home. New members are always welcome.

Organ Recital Slated Sunday

Noted concert artist, Charles Brand, will present an organ recital Sunday, Oct. 31 at St. John's United Methodist Church in Malden at 3:30 p.m.

A graduate from New York School for the Blind at Batavia where he studied organ with Miss Grace Towsley for four years, Brand also studied with Dr. Elmer Tidmarsh, an organist and teacher well known throughout the East.

Although totally blind, he has been concertizing for more than 25 years and has performed throughout the Northeast, in Canada, and in the Midwest. An audition for E. Power Biggs led to a recital before the American Guild of Organists at the group's 1950 convention in Boston. He was also invited to play for Vernon DeTar, head of the organ department at Juilliard in New York.

As a member of the American Guild of Organists, he has presented recitals in many cities under its auspices, and is currently organist at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Kingston.

A social hour is planned after the concert.

Obscene Calls No Laughing Matter

DEAR ABBY: My son, 16, makes obscene telephone calls. I heard him make one of those calls the other day and confronted him immediately. He told me he had done it several times and thinks it's "funny."

I received an obscene phone call many years ago, and I know it's no laughing matter. I have tried to impress this upon my son without success. I can't prevent him from using the phone, and there is no way I can check on him. I am hoping he'll outgrow it, but he seems to take a perverse pleasure in this hobby of his. I hate to see him upset anyone, and of course, I hope he doesn't run into any difficulties with the police. Have you any suggestions?

MRS. M.C.: Your son's "hobby" is not as innocuous as you seem to think. It is an indication that he could have serious emotional problems. I urge you to somehow manage to have your son examined psychiatrically. At 16, he's no longer a "boy"; he's a young man who desperately needs help.

DEAR ABBY: The other evening, around midnight, I was awakened by a police car's lights and the police radio next door to my home. Knowing the boy of 15 and his sister, 13, were home alone because their parents had gone to a party, I went outside and offered my help. The officers said, "Thank you, but it's a false alarm." The parents arrived home half an hour later so I knew all was well.

The next day the neighbor children told my youngster that when their parents are at parties, they always call the police and report a "prowl" around their home just to see how quickly the police will respond.

I was tempted to inform the police about this little scheme but decided against it. How many times can a person cry "wolf"?

ANOTHER MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: Not many more after the police get wise. And they will, if this stunt is pulled very often.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—UCLA and North Carolina Central were reprimanded, censured and placed on one-year probation in separate actions Wednesday by the NCAA Council.

The probations were without restrictions, meaning both schools will be eligible for post-season athletic competition.

UCLA's violation stemmed from the James McAlister case, announced Warren S. Brown, the NCAA's assistant executive director in charge of enforcement procedures.

McAlister, a football player and trackman, was given his American College Test on an unauthorized date along with two other prospective student-athletes, Kermit Johnson and Eugene Jones. All are from Pasadena, Calif.

Brown further announced that the NCAA had found 63 erasures on McAlister's answer sheets after UCLA had declared him eligible. UCLA withdrew McAlister's eligibility after an appeal in August and charged him with the loss of a year of varsity athletic competition.

Neither Johnson nor Jones ever were declared eligible under the NCAA's 1.6 rule.

The NCAA also learned that a representative of UCLA's athletic interests had co-signed a note for $1,767.12 in order for McAlister to buy a car.

The breakdown on McAlister's altered act answer sheets were: Social studies—26 erasures, 25 to correct answers; mathematics—2 erasures, 2 to correct answers; English—24 erasures, 15 to correct answers; natural sciences—11 erasures, 7 to correct answers.

Brown said the NCAA was never able to substantiate who changed the answers, but UCLA was responsible for administering the test.

The penalty against North Carolina Central of Durham, N. C., involved the recruitment of Charles Foster of Gaffney, S. C.

Track Coach Leroy T. Walker arranged for illegal transportation for Walker, including a trip to the Quantico Relays. Walker also paid for Foster's return trip home, although North Carolina Central does not permit transportation expenses incurred by prospects officially visiting the campus.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A lack of money for repairs and remodeling of Bleecker Stadium, the prospects of little spectator support, neighborhood objections and logistical problems have ruled out Albany as the home next year of the International League's Winnetka Whips.

Albany Mayor Erastus Corning II said Wednesday he had told General Manager James Fanning of the Montreal Expos, owner of the Whips, in a telephone conversation that it would be impossible for the Whips to play her next season, for those reasons.

Speculation earlier this month had reached virtually the same conclusion, although local fans tried to revive professional baseball here, hoping the financially troubled Whips—farthest west of the team would move here. The team moved from Buffalo last year to the Canadian city.

Baseball sources had said the Whips' rumored interest in Albany had been lukewarm anyway.

Corning said he told Fanning one of the main obstacles

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — the young player and his family.

Hughes died at 28 Sunday of a heart attack due to undetected arterial disease. He collapsed before more than 54,000 spectators as he returned to the huddle following a game against the Chicago Bears.

A wide receiver, he had caught a pass only three plays before he fell to the field.

Hughes became a star when he played for the University of Texas at El Paso in the mid 1960s. He set several school and national records.

Hughes met his wife, a homecoming queen, at UT El Paso.

Relatives said she chose San Antonio for the burial because she plans to live here, even though Hughes worked in El Paso in the off-season. She is a San Antonio native.

Corning added that he did not "feel other areas would support a team which played in Albany."

Lack of a home for a twilight baseball league and for the city's track, now at Blecker, were other factors cited.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Defensive back Richmond Flowers was obtained by the New York Giants Wednesday from the Washington Redskins as a completion of the deal Tuesday when wide receiver Clifford McNeil was sent to the Redskins.

Flowers, who originally was a wide receiver, saw no action with the Redskins after being obtained last week from the Dallas Cowboys.

The Giants had originally obtained a fifth, sixth and seventh round pick from the Redskins for McNeil.

The Giants sent the sixth round pick back to Washington to obtain Flowers.

Eagles Get Baker

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Tony Baker, a 5 foot, 11-inch, 225-pound running back, was acquired by the Philadelphia Eagles Wednesday from the New Orleans Saints.

The former Iowa State star has carried the ball 29 times for 125 yards and a 4.3 average this season.

ATLANTA (AP) — Milt Williams, who joined the Atlanta Hawks earlier this season after New York released him, came back to haunt his former team Wednesday in a 110-96 Atlanta victory. Williams dumped in six points and made three assists during a second-quarter streak of 15 straight Hawks points. He finished the evening with 16 points.

"I feel pretty good, he said afterward, "We are in first place.

Even with the Hawks unimpressive 2-5 record, they moved into a first-place tie with Baltimore in the NBA's central division.

"We have had most of our trouble this season against really quick clubs, noted Atlanta

Monticello High School scored a pair of goals in the second period and went on to beat Rondout, 5-0, here Wednesday to clinch the DUSO League soccer championship.

Monticello, 11-1 overall, will face Nyack, Rockland County champs, in the semi-finals.

Rondout, which competed in varsity soccer for the first time this season, was winless and scoreless in DUSO play. The Ganders did score three goals against Coleman in a non-leaguer.

Nebraska, Oklahoma, Michigan Seem Safe

By United Press International
Watch out, Oklahoma!
That's the message our Midlands regional expert has for the powerful Sooners' football team this Saturday against Big Eight rival Iowa State at Norman, Okla.

The Sooners, ranked No. 2 behind Big Eight foe Nebraska in the weekly ratings, have been steamrolling over opponents the last three weeks and reached a high of 75 points against Kansas State last Saturday. But Iowa State has lost only once in six starts and presents a definite problem for Oklahoma with the passing of quarterback Dean Carlson.

Our man doesn't expect the Sooners to lose Saturday, but it will be closer than Oklahoma has become accustomed to this season.

Among the top 10 only ninth-ranked Colorado is expected to lose this weekend, and that's only because the Buffaloes go against top-ranked Nebraska.

The East

Pittsburgh 24 Syracuse 17—Orangemen due for a letdown after last week's romp.

Penn State 42 West Virginia 12—Nittany Lions have too much sock for Mountaineers.

Dartmouth 20 Yale 13—The Indians are getting closer and closer to defeat... but not this week.

Cornell 27 Columbia 13—Marinero sets NCAA career rushing record.

Also — Princeton 17 over Brown. Harvard 10 over Pennsylvania. Holy Cross 12 over Northeastern. Rutgers eight over Bucknell. Delaware 20 over Temple.

The Midwest

Notre Dame 21 Navy 0—Irish can't score much, but neither can the Middies.

Northwestern 20 Illinois 14—Wildcats have tougher defense than Purdue.

Michigan 35 Indiana 6—Hoosiers might be able to kick two field goals.

There are two cars built in Sweden.

This is the one that reduces your collision insurance rates 15% at Allstate.

Recently, the Allstate Insurance Company challenged the automobile industry to build a car that could withstand a 5 mile an hour front end and a 2½ mile an hour rear end collision with an immovable barrier without any damage to the car.

Build such a car, said Allstate, and we'll reduce collision insurance rates on it 15%... a reduction that can save the car owner $20, $40, maybe even $80 or more a year on insurance premiums.

As of today, only one car qualifies for that reduction: The new SAAB 99E. Our car.

It hits the barrier head on at 5 and rearward at 2½ miles an hour, without any damage. No dents. No scratches. Nothing.

This also means our car passes the 1973 Federal Safety Standards for low speed collisions a year before it's required.

Our car is a lot different from the other car built in Sweden in other ways, too.

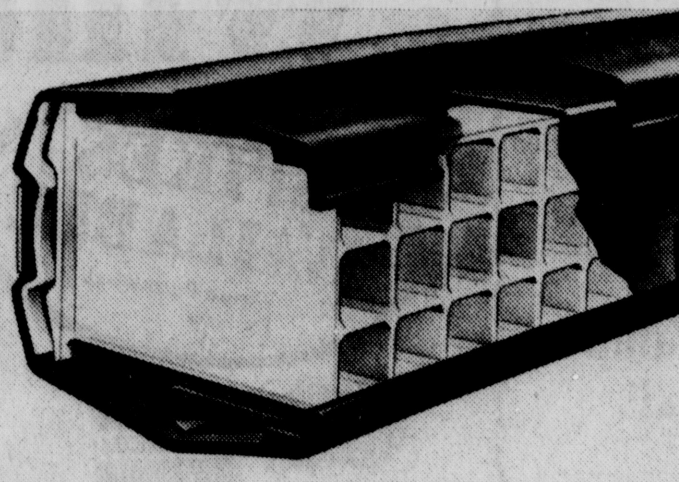

Our car has Front-Wheel Drive, a standard 4-cylinder, fuel-injected, overhead cam engine and 4-speed transmission (3-speed automatic is optional), 4-wheel disc brakes and roll-cage construction.

Radial tires are standard too.

One thing that isn't a lot different is price. Our car costs about the same as theirs.

So before you buy their car, drive ours. The SAAB 99E.

We think you're going to buy our car instead of theirs.

SAAB's new energy absorbing bumpers are standard equipment on the 1972 model 99E, front and rear. These bumpers are made with heavy U-shaped steel rails with energy absorbing cellular plastic blocks between them, all covered with black rubber. These bumpers absorb shocks before they reach the passengers and prevent minor bumps from becoming major repair bills.

Before you buy theirs, drive ours.

Amsterdam High Looking for Execution

ON THE WING: Kingston High's Mark Snyder eludes the grasp of two Middle defenders and is off on a long gallop. The Middies (33) Bill Reynolds and (41) Robert Smith. Coach Tony Badalato will be looking for this kind of action Saturday at Amsterdam (Bill Dunn Photo).

By IRA FUSFELD

AMSTERDAM
Amsterdam High School football coach John Los has a simple formula for beating Kingston Saturday when the two teams meet here in what is expected to be THE game of the season.

"We'll try to keep Kingston to zero points and then score a few ourselves," Los said straight-faced the other day in his office.

But the Amsterdam coach knows enough about the Maroons to realize that it will be difficult for his outlook to be realized.

"We've seen Kingston a few times and I know that they are big team that runs with plenty of power. They're strong physically and they are big in numbers."

The key for us is execution. That's a point we stress and when we've been successful this season it's been because we've executed well."

Amsterdam has been successful often. Gloversville held the Rams to a 0-0 tie in the opener and since then it's been nothing but victory starting with a 31-0 trouncing of Albany. Mt. Pleasant fell before Los' team, 54-22, the Rams trounced Troy, 31-6, and then beat Linton, 37-0. The upstarters were idle last week.

The New York State Sports Writers Association rates the Rams honorable mention and since Kingston is No. 15 an Amsterdam win would probably oust the Maroons from the top twenty.

Kingston, of course, has swept through the campaign unscathed in five outings and has registered 173 points while giving up seven. And KHS fans don't have to be told that those seven points came on an interception and not against the still to be scored on defense.

The Maroons have met three of Amsterdam's opponents and beaten them handily. Against Linton, Troy, and Gloversville combined, Kingston scored 124 and didn't allow any. The Rams tallied 68 points against the trio of Capital District elevens and gave up six.

"We use multiple offensive formations," explained Los, "and I'd say we are relatively wide open. We are physically small but we have speed in the backfield and on the line."

"Our biggest asset both ways," Los pointed out, "is that we play as a team and that's another thing we stress consistently."

When asked to single out his top players, Los hesitated a moment then tapped tailback Dave Weisman ("he's very good") and defensive end Bob Gutowski. His quarterback is Gary Tuck.

The Rams beat Kingston, 14-6, last season and in that game Weissman scored the first touchdown and Tuck went over for the other score.

Kingston coach Tony Badalato says his Maroons will be ready for the big challenge Amsterdam should provide.

"This is the toughest team we'll have met to date," the KHS mentor, who appears to be a shoo-in for Ulster County

Coach-of-the-Year honors remarked.

Badalato noted that his team, which had been criticized in some quarters for not being "up" against Gloversville, "will have no trouble getting ready" for the Rams.

The KHS coach is looking for Amsterdam to go with the wide open attack Los spoke of, and singled out the Rams use of a halfback pass option play.

And although Los said that his defenses will vary, Badalato is getting ready for a predominance of 5-4 formations by the home team.

Kingston should be at full strength for the game. Accepting a ballgame.

Following the Amsterdam game Kingston goes to New Rochelle on Nov. 6 and then winds up the season at home against Newburgh. And if the Maroons are still undefeated when they play the Goldbacks, that traditional rivalry will take on a far greater meaning.

But first Kingston has to get by Amsterdam. It should be quite a ballgame.

Through Technicality Chris Evert Is Pro

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chris Evert, who gained sudden fame at the U.S. Nationals last month, is technically a tennis professional.

"But it's all a monumental error," moaned U.S. Lawn Tennis Association executive director Bob Malaga Wednesday after learning the 16-year-old girl's picture inadvertently appeared in a full page ad in, of all places, the USLTA's own house organ.

Miss Evert, the heroine of America's Wightman Cup defense against Britain, appears with junior champion Laurie Fleming in a Fort Lauderdale, Fla., dress shop advertisement, which says the girls buy their clothes there and so should you.

Everyone was stunned when the magazine arrived. Mrs. Collette Evert says she remembers the girls posing for a photograph, but had no idea her daughter would appear in an ad. Malaga claims neither Chris nor Laurie received any kind of payment.

USLTA standing orders prohibit an amateur to permit "his name or likeness to be advertised as the user of any goods of a manufacturer, merchant, wholesaler, retailer or to allow the use of his name or likeness on sporting goods in any advertising or other sales promotion."

Malaga, who admits that under the strict interpretation of the rule the girls could be classified as pros, said the situation is absurd.

"I flipped when I saw the ad," said a chagrined Malaga. "Our magazine's advertising agency did not have to clear ad copy with us because, well, it's never been necessary."

"But this is an unfortunate thing. Neither Chris nor Laurie intentionally were involved in the obvious violation of the rules. It apparently was an innocent mistake on everyone's part. Both girls have traded with the Fort Lauderdale store, but they've always paid for their dresses."

Malaga promised that all future advertising and editorial copy will be cleared through his office prior to publication.

Pats Lose Pair

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Veteran wide receiver Ron Sellers and starting safety Clarence Scott will be lost to the New England Patriots for at least the next two National Football League games.

Sellers and Scott were placed on the "move" list Wednesday because of injuries suffered in a loss to the Cowboys last Sunday. Sellers was poked in the eye, while Scott aggravated an ankle ailment.

Dalton to Angels

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — Harry Dalton took over the job of general manager of the California Angels today with the announced intention of building the club into a pennant winner just as he did with the Baltimore Orioles.

The new general manager flew here a few hours after his appointment. It carries the additional title of vice president and was announced by club President Bob Reynolds on behalf of majority stockholder Gene Autry.

Dalton was wooed away from the Orioles with a five-year contract, an estimated $60,000 a year in salary and stock options.

But the new executive, who replaces the discharged Dick Walsh, said money alone was not the chief inducement.

"This is an opportunity for me to get back into the work of building an organization," the 43-year-old Dalton said. "It's a chance to see if the success we had in Baltimore can be repeated with the Angels."

Dalton as director of player personnel for the Orioles developed a club that won four American League pennants and two world championships in six years for him.

"I'm leaving a team that is respected in its community and has been a winner but I look at the new job on its merits and its future," he said.

Dalton pointed out he probably could have gotten the Orioles to match the money offer of the Angels but the incentives here range beyond salary.

One of the first jobs confronting the new general manager was selection of a field manager to replace Harold "Lefty" Phillips who was fired after two and a half years at the helm as the successor to Bill Rigney.

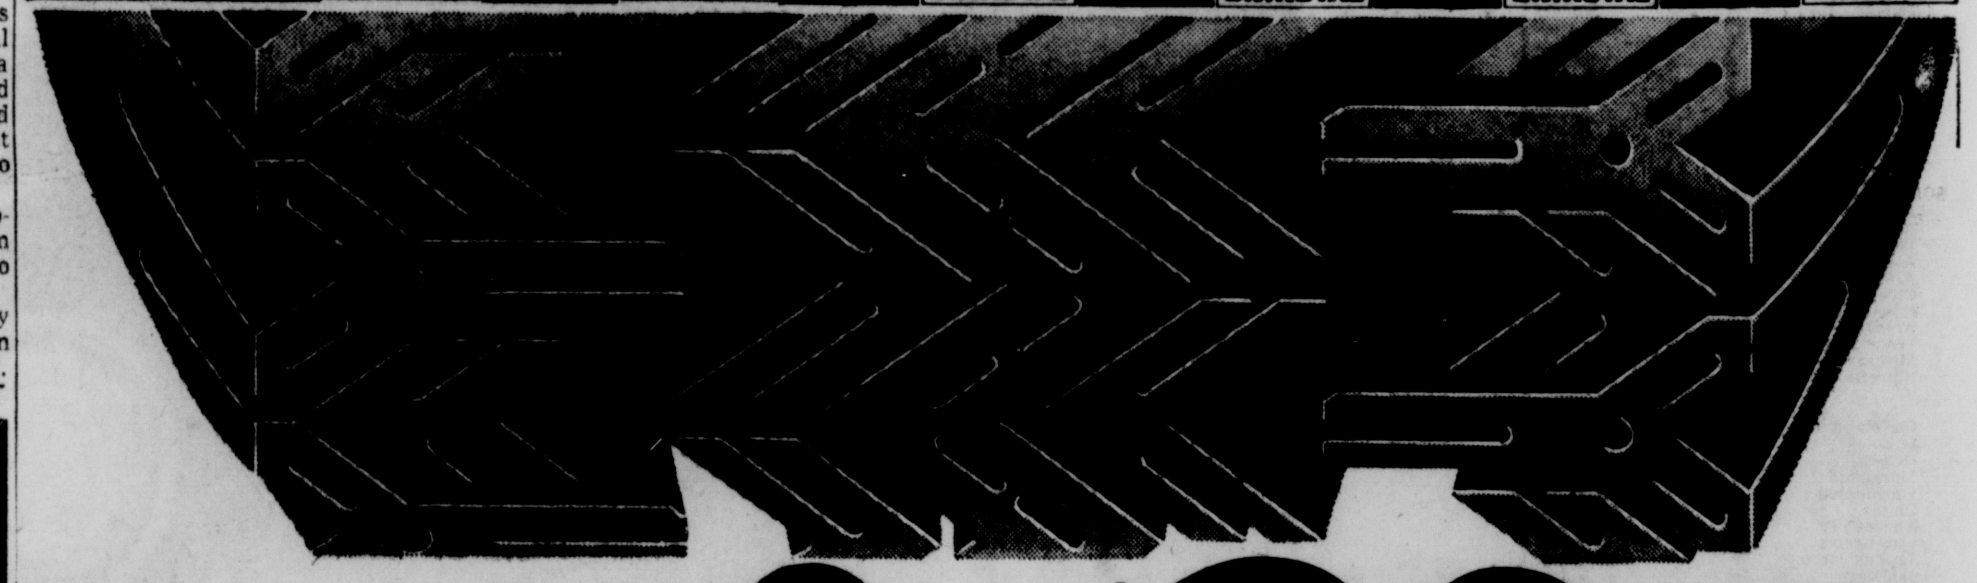

In announcing Dalton's appointment, Reynolds hailed him as a man who was used to winning.

"Gene and I are extremely pleased to have obtained a man of his caliber," Reynolds said.

UCCC Booters Rout Bard

MORGAN HILL, Ulster County Community College's soccer squad rolled up its biggest point total of the season in routing outclassed Bard College of Annandale, 9-1, here Wednesday. But Coach George Vizvary was looking past this one-sided win to Saturday, 1 p.m. test with Bronx Community at Oehler's Soccer Stadium.

"The team performed beautifully," said Vizvary, noting that Klaus Weber had achieved the hat trick of three goals for the second time this season. "But the momentum will have to carry over into Saturday's game with Bronx."

Vizvary described Bronx as a team capable of beating anybody in Region XV on a given day. "They beat New York City 2-1," he pointed out, "and they have a forward line capable of stopping any team."

Ulster's superiority over Bard was so obvious that the UCCC mentor used his first string squad only 15 minutes. Despite frequent substitutions, the Senators still had enough reserve power to engulf Bard with four goals in the fourth quarter, their best closing period of the season.

Frantz St. Fleur opened Ulster's scoring with a goal at 6:04 of the first period. Weber twice within five minutes of the second period to put Ulster ahead 3-1, before Nich Scrimshaw, Bard's outside right, picked up his team's only goal 12:30 into the quarter to give UCCC a 3-1 lead at the half.

Jacques Pons and Damir Lazaric boosted Ulster margin to 5-2, before the fourth quarter deluge in which Weber picked up his third goal. Wayne Bassarear scored twice and St. Fleur added his second score.

"The team's overall performance was the best of the season," said Coach Vizvary. "The pass work was beautiful and it looked like the boys were getting ready for the run for the Region XV invitation." A loss to Bronx Community, however, could seriously jeopardize the chance.

Ulster's statistical margin over the visitors matched the lopsided score. The Senators held a 32-12 margin in shots-on-goal and led in corner kicks, 5-2. Bard's goalie, Bakron, had 26 saves, while Samuelson, Ulster's goalkeeper, committed five fouls to two for Bard, which had six offsides to four for UCCC.

The victory was Ulster's 7th in 10 decisions. After Saturday's test with Bronx, the Senators are at Manhattan Community Monday, before hosting 7th ranked nationally Staten Island Community on Thursday, Nov. 4, at 2 p.m. at Oehler's. "The momentum is there," Vizvary concluded. "It remains to be seen if we can hold in our remaining games." And why not?

Coleman Beaten

KINGSTON, A long season came to a halt for Coleman High School Wednesday as the Statesmen suffered a 3-1 defeat at the hands of Storm King Prep.

Coach Ron Valle's Kingston-based team wound up with a 3-9 record.

The visitors opened the scoring at 7:10 of the first period as Lloyd MacMillan guided a crossing pass into the net.

Storm King added goals two and three in the third session. Ken Ryan and Tom Hortorn doing the scoring.

The Statesmen reached the board in the final stanza as Glenn Link took a rebound of a shot off the post and bounced it home.

"We had many opportunities, but couldn't cash them in," said Coach Valle.

Coleman outshot Storm King 23-18.

The JAC mentor cited freshman A. J. Manen and sophomore Ron Weber for their play, and remarked that only the play of Storm King goalie Glen Trena kept the score down.

Coleman loses 12 players to graduation and expects to build his team around freshmen and soph next season.

Oneonta Outplays Paltz State, 4 to 0

NEW PALTZ, The only undefeated collegiate soccer team in New York State came to town Wednesday and kept its perfect record intact, but before leaving it knew it had been in a ballgame.

Oneonta State, tied for first in the State University Athletic Conference and ranked sixth in the state, beat New Paltz, 4-0, with all the goals coming in the second half.

"My boys really played an inspired game," said losing coach Bob Durkin. "Oneonta is some strong club, but we had big hearts out there and were in it until we just ran out of gas."

By holding Oneonta scoreless until late in the third quarter, New Paltz took the distinction of keeping the upstate power in check for longer than had any opponent this season.

Alty McKenzie finally broke through at 19:42 of the third on an assist from Burt Bidos and that broke the Hawks' backs.

"In the first half they owned us," recalled Durkin. "They took 13 shots to our four but couldn't get one in. Then when they still hadn't scored in the third, they looked a little panicky and I really felt that the team that scored first would win."

But McKenzie and Oneonta tallied and from there went on to pad the margin and make the final score more lopsided than was the actual area play.

Bidos hit the twines at 5:25 of the fourth with McKenzie assisting to make it 2-0.

Frank Gazo scored the third goal on a picture play as he lofted a high arching shot from outside the penalty area that found its way in.

Gazo closed the scorebook with his second goal at 21:35 on a cross from Carlos Camacho.

Rousseau had scored the game's first goal when he tapped a loose puck into the red wing net while flat on his stomach. "It was," he said later, "just off the toe of my stick. Like my best pool shot."

Hadfield, who had a goal and three assists for the evening, guffawed over Rousseau's goal, his third of the season. "Some shot," he sneered, especially after scoring a goal of his own on a blazing power play blast.

The kidding didn't bother Rousseau, who came to the Rangers from Minnesota last summer in an even-up swap for Bob Nevin.

In the third period Rousseau scored his second goal of the night and fourth of the season. It was significant, number, for Rousseau. That's because four goals was all Rousseau managed all of last year in Minnesota.

Hadfield grabbed the puck for a grandiose presentation ceremony that had Rousseau giggling. "That Vic," he was playing a joke on me," laughed Bobby who rarely had a chance to smile last year with the North Stars.

When he wasn't needing Rousseau, Hadfield was busy feeding linemates Rod Gilbert and Jean Ratelle. Gilbert scored two goals and Ratelle one and the line, hottest in the NHL, accumulated nine more points for a nine game total of 42—best for any trio in the league.

The scoring started against Joe Daley, one of the last of the bare-faced goalies. The Rangers drove him to cover after only one period and then continued the assault on his replacement, Al Smith.

Red Berenson connected twice for the Red Wings. Elsewhere in the NHL, Montreal whipped Boston, 5-2; California topped Pittsburgh, 6-4; Minnesota shaded St. Louis, 2-1; Buffalo edged Los Angeles, 3-2; and Toronto-Vancouver played a scoreless tie.

Three second period goals by Frank Mahovlich, Henri Richard, and Guy Lapointe put the Canadiens ahead by 4-0 after Rejean Houle had tallied Montreal's first marker in the opening session. Lapointe scored again in the third.

Wayne Cashman and Phil Esposito scored for Boston. Goals by Bobby Sheehan, Stan Gilbertson and Rick Redmond within a span of 3:24 in the first period sparked California over Pittsburgh.

J. P. Parise and Dean Prentice gave Minnesota a 2-0 lead in the first period and the North Stars held on to defeat St. Louis.

Dick Martin's two goals led the Sabres over Los Angeles, the fifth straight defeat for the Kings.

Goalies Bernie Barent of Toronto and Dunc Wilson of Vancouver matched shutouts in the double Leafs scoreless tie with the Canucks.

Although the disease occurs predominantly in the black whose ancestors came from the race, "it is also found in some members of the white race whose ancestors came from the Mediterranean area" and "other population groups in India, South America and the Middle East," Dr. Scott said.

The daughter of Willie Stargell, slugging outfielder for the Pirates, suffers from the disease, the subcommittee was told. Stargell, Ellis, Johnson and Horace Davis of Pittsburgh, who also testified, are members of the Black Athletes Foundation.

The subcommittee is holding a hearing on a bill introduced by Sen. John V. Tunney D-Calif., which would authorize a pilot diagnostic program in the District of Columbia for prevention and treatment of sickle cell anemia.

"At the age of eight, I found blood in my urine," Ellis told the subcommittee. "When I was in junior high school, I was always tired and sleeping in class. However, I didn't say anything about it because I had never heard of the disease."

"At the age of 17, I went to the doctor and he told me I had sickle cell anemia. Then, when I signed a professional baseball contract in 1966, the team ran tests that showed I had sickle cell trait, not anemia," he said.

Dr. Scott said the disease "occurs essentially in two general forms. The trait (carrier) represents a single dose or inheritance from one parent. The anemic form represents a double dose or inheritance from both parents."

Washington (AP) — Dock Ellis, the hottest pitcher in the National League during the first half of the season, says his second half collapse could have been caused by sickle cell anemia.

The Pittsburgh Pirate star told a Senate subcommittee Wednesday he has suffered from the genetic disease since he was 8 years old.

Sickle cell anemia, which occurs predominantly among blacks, causes fatigue, weakness and recurrent episodes in pain, according to Dr. Roland B. Scott of Howard University.

"It's pointed out that I have a chronic arm problem," said Ellis. "I don't know if it can be caused by sickle cell anemia."

Ellis and John Henry Johnson, former running back of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League, were among those testifying before the subcommittee on public health.

The subcommittee is holding a hearing on a bill introduced by Sen. John V. Tunney D-Calif., which would authorize a pilot diagnostic program in the District of Columbia for prevention and treatment of sickle cell anemia.

Kiwanis Kapers' 'Merry Widow' Prances Across Bailey Stage Tonight

By JOAN L. WOINOSKI

Five eager bridegrooms, add a local talent and what do you have? A recipe for another attractive widow and a zany script and sprinkle it with have? A recipe for another

TRIANGLE OF LOVE — Miss Terri Serravallo of Coach House fame wears the pained expression of indecision as two of her many suitors vie for her affections. Apparently enjoying her dilemma are Richard Mathews (L) and Tony Bell who both become her mate for a brief period of time in the 1971 Kiwanis Kapers show. "The Merry Widow or Love and Marriage in Seven Easy Lessons." The curtain rises tonight at J. Watson Bailey School at 8:15. Tickets for this evening, Friday or Saturday's performance are available at the door. (Reynolds photo).

It's Jim Thompson's production of "The Merry Widow or Love and Marriage in Seven Easy Lessons" and it opens tonight for three performances at J. Watson Bailey School, curtain at 8:15. There are several new faces in this year's production, the most unforgettable one being Terri Serravallo who portrays a widow (on five different occasions.) Whether it's losing husband Clyde (who chokes to death on a piece of his own wedding cake), or losing Winthrop who, mistaken for a man-eating lion, is brutally shot, Mistress "Sophie" emits a 11 necessary grief throughout each marriage-go-round. Husbands are played by Tony Bell, a vendor by trade who resembles Dustin Hoffman in the wedding scene of "The Graduate." Bernie Redmond, a would-be skier (who "borrowed" his little daughter's ski gear for props.) Richard Mathews, handsome number three, who enjoys midnight swims; Jim Gilpatrick, a resident of Kenya, Africa, whose adlibs should be recorded; John McCullough, who gives his all to aid a damsel in distress, Jack St. John comes in at the finale complete with French accent and, although the widow has been busy, it becomes obvious she'll be even more so.

Thompson made it easy this year for the cast; most have six or seven line parts, easy to remember. Although dress rehearsals are enough to give a writer-director cause to panic, at Wednesday night's performance Jim Thompson laid it on the line and his cast was either afraid of him or felt sorry for him. At any rate, exactly one and one-half hours after The Merry Widow plunged into her first escapade and caught her own wedding bouquet, the final curtain fell — no mean feat where Kapers' shows are concerned.

There is a fine selection of old-time, catchy tunes sung by an exceptionally good chorus, accompanied by organist Howard Houghtaling and drummer Howard Smith. The scenery crew was kept stepping with eight rapid scene changes and the children deserve special kudos, especially Craig DeForest who plays Sophie as a child. At least a mention should be made of the five "lovelies" in rose satin gowns who serve as Sophie's wedding attendants. Reservations for tonight, Friday and Saturday performances may be made at Safford and Scudder, Wall Street. Tickets may be obtained also at the door.

THE THING THAT WOULDN'T DIE.

It came from across the sea. Quietly. Timidly. Unassumingly. It grew. Suddenly there were millions of them. People took notice. Detroitings flung secret weapons at it and not only did it survive, but was fortified. See this amazing thing now running at your Volkswagen dealer. Continuous performances since 1949.

Roman Catholic Priest Running for Mayor's Post

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Running on a "time-for-a change" platform, the Rev. Roland St. Pierre seeks to become the first Roman Catholic priest elected mayor in New York State.

Father St. Pierre is a registered Democrat but hopes to pull the same coup as the current mayor, Francis Steltzer, by running as a Republican.

Steltzer, 48, was first elected in 1965 on the Republican line. He remained an enrolled Demo-

GOP Newcomer Gives Ideas

RHINEBECK — Delewan Wolcott, Republican nominee for Town Councilman, said that he was a political newcomer and explained his attitude toward the job he is seeking.

Wolcott said he believes in "carefully weighing all sides of a problem or issue... using the same common sense approach that I have applied in my own business."

He said that expanded recreational facilities for adult citizens as well as youth must be studied, and supported the "right of everyone to speak their mind."

And he promised that his thoughts "will be my own, and I may or may not be in agreement with other members of the Board."

crat and has since run with his party.

The incumbent is campaigning on his record and pointing out the city's high credit rating, low property tax, police and fire department records and revenue collected from sales tax.

Father St. Pierre prides himself on his record as administrator of St. Peter's Parish. In his five years in the city, the parish has become debt-free and completely refurbished its church.

He and Steltzer have something in common: Steltzer is Catholic and serves as a lector at mass at St. Peter's.

Father St. Pierre is a member of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate. Since his campaign began, he has moved out of the rectory.

Steltzer is playing on his lifelong residence in Plattsburgh, but his opponent counters, "You don't have to live here forever to love the city."

Part of St. Pierre's campaign is a suggestion that the city has failed to capitalize on its fine white-sand beach.

The challenger also criticized Steltzer and other office holders for voting themselves salary increases.

But Steltzer points to the six new industries, with 213 jobs, that arrived in the city this year. Their payrolls total $1 million annually.

Police Chief Succumbs To Wounds

NASHUA, N.H. (UPI) — Acting Police Chief Armand Roussel died Wednesday of wounds suffered in a shooting incident Oct. 15.

Roussel, 50, died at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday while undergoing therapy for wounds to the shoulders and back, according to officials at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Roussel, who was unarmed, was shot by Calvin Parker, 46, as the police official tried to talk Parker into surrendering a hostage. Parker died from bullets fired by police after he threw the hostage aside and shot Roussel.

Parker had been jailed a year ago on charges of firing a series of shots inside the Nashua Police Station but was out on parole.

Roussel was acting chief for about a month, replacing retired Chief Paul Tracy.

Gas Cutback Is Ordered

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A possible shortage of natural gas to New York State customers in the next few years has prompted a stern order from the Public Service Commission, restricting gas companies in distribution and sale of the fuel.

The PSC directive Wednesday prohibited the companies from accepting new customers unless the customers can use other fuels during times of reduction in the gas supply.

The panel said it had found that pipeline companies would not be able to meet the growth demands of distributors in the state.

The directive also set a limit on the additional gas that could be supplied to current customers who do not have alternative fuels available and ordered gas companies to end sales promotions.

Your Horoscope

Friday, October 29

GENERAL TENDENCIES: During the daytime you cannot seem to bring your overall ambitions and plans to a workable success so avoid trying to do this until evening. Then you find you are able to put into action those principles that mean the most to you. The entire day is fine for art, music, beauty.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You find it difficult to express yourself properly today, so keep busy alone at whatever is of a practical nature. Try to help one who is having difficulty sledding. Show you are generous.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) One you expect too much from will certainly disappoint you today, but by evening all will work out well. Attend social events in the p.m. that will perk up your spirits. Do not be extravagant, though.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have to labor diligently and get the okay of one who means a good deal to your financial life. The day may be rather difficult, but later all works out to your benefit. A smile and a pat on the back for others is wise.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have to gather more data before you make a change that you are now contemplating. An out-of-town letter disturbs at first but then becomes of benefit to you. Take it easy tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Although you think you have too many responsibilities, if you get at them early you find they are quickly behind you. Forget that hunch you have, since it is not accurate. P.M. is excellent for romance.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If a partner is troublesome now, leave him strictly alone and then when temper cools, all will be fine again. Don't take any risks whatever during day. Get into that hobby in p.m. and relax.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Forget going off on some tangent and handle that work ahead of you efficiently. Don't invest in that strange item you want to add to wardrobe. Stick to the conventional and you can never go wrong.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't lose your temper with those at home who are not doing what you want. Permit them to learn by doing as they please. Get busy at work ahead of you and then have a good time tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have a habit of being too stern at home and this is a good day to mend this bad habit and think of the welfare of others. Financial help alone is not enough for kin. Dwell more on the spiritual side of life.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get busy at jobs ahead of you instead of finding someone or something to pick on. Drive with utmost care and make sure you count your change while shopping. Don't forget to lock your doors tightly at home in p.m.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't try to pull a fast one on another just because you are in need of quick money. Find the right outlet that will give you more in an ethical way. Save time for one who needs your advice.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You may not be using good judgment during day but then later everything works out all right for you. You are able to gain personal aims easily. Plan how to expand early and then get wheels rolling in right direction.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who seems to have a veritable knack for getting into hot water early in life. Later the attitude changes and all runs more smoothly because of the religious knowledge that is acquired, which removes the streak of vengeance so strong in this nature early in life. Use a certain amount of discipline so your child will not get in with the wrong crowd. Sports will not appeal to your son, daughter.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

During the Boston Tea Party of 1773, colonists disguised as Indians dumped British tea cargoes into Boston harbor, because of an unpopular British tea tax which colonists believed would encourage other duties. The World Almanac notes that the "tea party" helped rally the colonies against increasing interference in colonial trade. Copyright © 1971, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SITTER PSYCHOLOGY: (Comment) I'm like most teenagers. I never have enough money. So I decided to be a baby-sitter. I started out by sending cards to neighbors with children.

On each card I put my name, address, phone number, age, and a report on my courses and grades at school. Also the word, "Baby-sitting."

Soon calls began to come in. When I went to work for a couple for the first time I did not carry an armful of magazines or homework. I carried small inexpensive toys for the kids. They loved it.

Several couples I have worked for have recommended me to other people. I keep busy and am able to have clothes and things I didn't have before.—A Jean Adams Fan in Pennsylvania.

(A.) You are not only a baby-sitter. You are a saleswoman. Congratulations, and thank you for your ideas. They should help the many baby-sitters and potential baby-sitters who read this column.

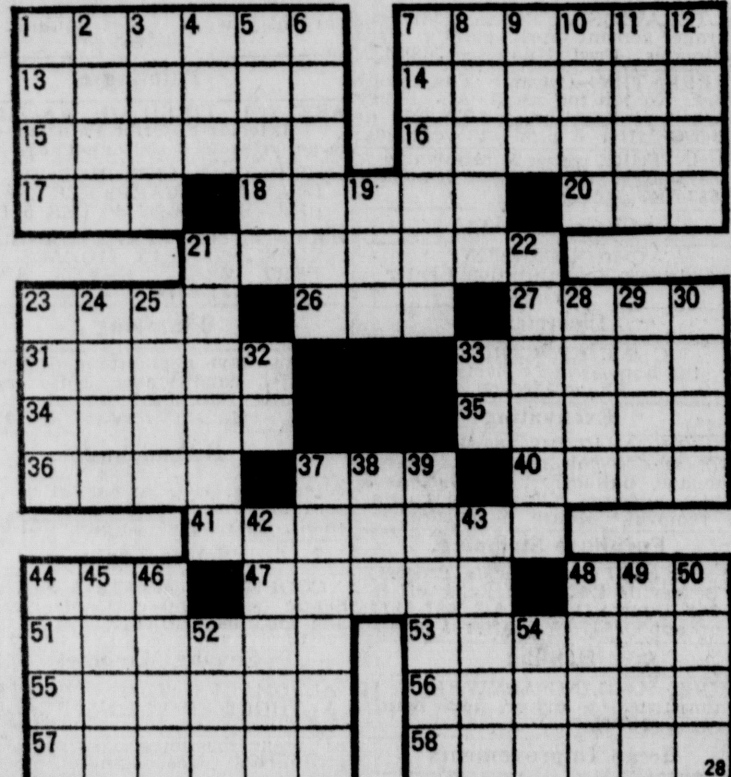

HAIR-CIRCUS: (Q.) How can I stop mascara from coming off under my eyes. It makes a half-circle under there.—Messy in Wisconsin.

(A.) Try using it on your upper lashes only. And avoid the type with solid particles designed to make the lashes look longer. These bits and pieces have a tendency to drop out.

'Columbo' Big Hit to Date

NEW YORK (AP) — It seems fairly certain now that the biggest hit among this season's new series is NBC's "Mystery Movie," with the segment starring Peter Falk coming on particularly strong.

Between Falk's scruffy, cigar-chomping detective and Edie Albert playing a sleek, elegant heavy, Wednesday night's "Columbo" episode was one of the best shows in the series to date.

Once the viewer gets accustomed to the menacing personality and untidy appearance of Lt. Columbo—Falk isn't exactly a romantic hero—the format of the show works well. The viewer is a witness to the crime at the opening of the 90-minute program and follows along as the clever policeman puts together the pieces of his case.

The killing this time was of a corrupt colonel by a retired Marine general—Albert—who was involved in shady deals and feared exposure. The shoot was seen from a distance by a young divorcee.

The most interesting part was watching the cool military man put into operation a plan to cover his crime. He courted the girl and attempted to pull rank on the police.

Albert, after all those bucolic years in "Green Acres," had a nice change of pace as the arrogant, wily war hero.

With its weekly rotation of three shows—"Columbo," "McCloud" and "McMillan and Wife"—the series averages out as pretty satisfactory escapism entertainment, usually more concerned with puzzles than blood and guts.

CBS, which had concept and script problems with its new "Funny Face" during the summer, now is confronted with a problem potentially more difficult to handle. Star Sandy Duncan is hospitalized for examination and may require eye surgery.

Since the series was late in starting production, only seven episodes are available for broadcast. In the event Miss Duncan does require surgery and a period of convalescence, the series and the network will be in a bind.

When Dorothy Malone was stricken during production of "Peyton Place," several seasons back, her role was so vital to the story that the producers brought in Lola Albright as a substitute and frankly announced before each show that Miss Albright was playing the part of Constance MacKenzie until Miss Malone was able to return.

"Funny Face," however, is built completely around the character of Sandy Duncan; a substitute would be hard to take.

Bloody Day in Northern Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Irish terrorists killed three British soldiers and a policeman Wednesday in one of the bloodiest days of more than two years of fighting. Four gunmen sprayed an army convoy with machine-gun fire today, seriously injuring one soldier.

A spokesman said two army vehicles were en route to deliver supplies to a hospital when four men in two cars opened fire. Troops in the convoy had no time to return the shots, so quickly did the incident happen. Earlier today, extremists lured an army patrol into an ambush outside Armagh and set off a bomb among the troops.

A British soldier and a police sergeant died in separate incidents Wednesday night, while two soldiers were killed earlier in the day when a bomb was thrown into their sentry post in Londonderry. An army spokesman said that it had early today when suddenly there was an explosion between the two army units, the spokesman said. None of the patrol's members was injured, he said.

A land mine exploded under an army patrol vehicle near the border town of Kinawley Wednesday night, killing Cpl. David F. Powell, 22, and slightly injuring another soldier, the spokesman said.

Near Toome Bridge, 35 miles northwest of Belfast, a telephone call lured a police sergeant and a constable to a country farmhouse where a barn was reported afire. Gunfire cut them down as they emerged from their car.

The sergeant died instantly, a police spokesman said, but his companion managed before he collapsed to get on the car's radio to call for assistance.

In Belfast, the army spokesman said soldiers hit six and possibly seven gunmen in an hour long battle in the Roman Catholic Turl Lodge area. The shootings followed the funeral of a suspected bomber killed by police over the weekend.

In other developments during the day, the army said an army patrol was fired on by boys age 13 and 14 armed with machine guns. A spokesman warned: "If children continue to shoot at soldiers they will be shot."

Prime Minister Brian Faulkner announced he had appointed the first Roman Catholic to his cabinet. He is Dr. Gerard Newe, 64, a specialist in social work, who will have the rank of

Spiro Challenges Greek Critics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charging that Greece has become "a favorite whipping boy" of some Americans, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has challenged critics of the Athens dictatorship to demand democracy in nations like Communist China, too.

But Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, countered that the United States is not supplying military assistance to Peking, so the situation is not parallel.

The Senate is considering legislation to cut off U.S. military aid to Greece as a rebuke to the authoritarian government there, unless President Nixon rules continued assistance to be in the overriding interest of U.S. security. The State Department has expressed disappointment at the slow pace of steps toward representative rule in Greece.

Agnew said in Athens he found a spirit of patriotism and unity in Greece, the nation of his forebears, during the visit that ended Oct. 23. He complimented the government for progress in health, education, welfare and development in rural Greece. He gave no public indication of dissatisfaction with the Athens government or its undisclosed timetable for representative rule.

"Certainly, we've all indicated the hope that Greece will move back toward a democratic form of government," Agnew said in his office across the street from the White House. He said Prime Minister George Papadopoulos has declared that to be his objective.

Fulbright, interviewed at the Capitol, said the Vice President's statements about Greece "don't seem to me to be consistent with what I understand to be the policy of the government, with regard to pressure for democratic government."

Agnew said it seems unusual that "here we are focusing in on the details of the internal workings of another government, one of our most important allies in NATO ... and yet we hear none of these exploratory urgings being directed to anybody else."

Agnew said: "It just seems to me that Greece is a favorite whipping boy of certain opinion in this country."

Court Nominee Discusses Law Clerks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court law clerks, as a group, are exuberant, lean to the "left" and unconsciously slant the material they prepare for the justices. This was the recollection in 1957 of nominee William H. Rehnquist, who had worked for the late justice Robert H. Jackson for 18 months.

"Some of the tenets of the 'liberal' point of view which commanded the sympathy of a majority of the clerks I knew," Rehnquist said then in a U.S. News & World Report article, "were: extreme solicitude for the claims of Communists and other criminal defendants, expansion of federal power at the expense of state power, great sympathy toward any government regulation of business."

Then 33, Rehnquist was working as a lawyer in Phoenix. He had been a law clerk to Jackson from January 1952 through July 1953. Now an assistant attorney general, he and attorney Lewis F. Powell Jr. of Richmond, Va., have been nominated by President Nixon to fill two court vacancies.

While a Justice Department press officer said Rehnquist would not discuss his current views, three of his contemporaries were willing to speak of theirs, and they conflicted with Rehnquist's impressions.

Newton Minow, the former Federal Communications Commission chairman, was a clerk to the late Chief Justice Fred Vinson; Rep. Abner Mikva, D-Ill., clerked for the late Justice Sherman Minton, and Prof. Alexander M. Bickel of Yale worked for the late Justice Felix Frankfurter.

Had they found the clerks, generally, to be exuberant, leftward leaning and unconsciously slanting material?

"Certainly not," said Minow in a telephone interview from Chicago, where he is a lawyer. "I have a very high regard for Bill Rehnquist's intellect and think he is a very competent lawyer, but I don't share that view of what the law clerks thought."

Minow added: "Moreover, I think the whole question of whether law clerks influence justices is greatly exaggerated."

We never had that much influence with the chief justice (Vinson). He'd listen to what we said but he'd decide it himself."

Mikva said: "I hope we were exuberant. I certainly don't know of any clerk that slanted the material."

Bickel, who countered Rehnquist's theory in print at the time, said: "I thought it was wrong, an alarmist view, chiefly because I couldn't see how the justices were influenced by their clerks. He didn't have any experience turning the Justice's (Jackson) head and I certainly did not have that experience with Frankfurter, and they both were conservative justices."

Rehnquist wrote: "The specter of the law clerk as a legal Rasputin, exerting an important influence on the cases actually decided by the Court, may be discarded at once. No published biographical materials dealing with any of the Justices suggest any such influence. I certainly learned of none during the time I spent as a clerk."

clerks exists in this realm of the court's activity." Describing the clerks, Rehnquist said: "Some in their youthful exuberance permit their notions to engender a cynical disrespect for the capabilities of anyone, including justices, who may disagree with them."

Assessing clerks generally, he said he found their political cast to be to the "left" of either the nation or the court.

"I cannot speak for any clerk other than myself in stating as a fact that unconscious bias did creep into his work," Rehnquist wrote. "Looking back, I must admit that I was not guiltless on this score, and I greatly doubt if many of my fellow clerks were much less guiltless than I. And where such bias did have any effect, because of the political outlook of the group of clerks that I knew, its direction would be to the political 'left'."

Provide 'Equality of Sacrifice,' Meany Warns Administration

WASHINGTON (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany warned the administration today it must provide "equality of sacrifice" in its Phase II economic program if it is to win labor's continued cooperation to slow inflation and bolster the economy.

Meany said administration proposals for Phase II, which will start at the end of the wage-price-rents freeze Nov. 13, would place the burden on working people and shower bonanzas on the wealthy. He said they would control wages but fail to halt price increases.

"The basic thrust of the President's policy is to require working people to sacrifice their opportunities for economic gains in the naming of reducing inflation," Meany said. "But in stark contrast, the administration would give bonanzas to the coupon clippers and the money lenders by tendering them tax breaks and by a stubborn refusal to institute effective regulations of profits, dividends and interest rates."

The labor leader gave his analysis in remarks prepared for a session of the House Banking and Currency Committee, which is studying proposed legislation for Phase II. He said labor already has started to cooperate with controls.

In a related development today, W. P. Gullander, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, warned union leaders that failure to cooperate with Phase II could result in public demand for the curbing of the unions' "tremendous political and economic power," Gullander's statement was prepared for a nationwide closed-circuit telecast to business leaders in 26 major communities.

Mariner 9 to Get New Com System

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Officials of the Mariner 9 Mars probe project are installing a communications system here they hope will bridge language and ideology barriers and bring about the first joint effort in space exploration by U.S. and Russian scientists.

Officials at the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory—JPL—hope to use a Telex machine to exchange data through a similar machine in Moscow when both countries begin exploration of Mars next month.

Mariner 9 is scheduled to go into Martian orbit Nov. 13 and take photographs and other measurements of the planet.

Two Soviet craft, Mars 2 and 3, are expected to arrive about the same time, but their missions haven't been disclosed.

The Telex system is a means of sending and receiving messages by teletype. One machine can send information by dialing another's number.

"We have their number and they have ours," said Dan Schneiderman, Mariner 9 project director.

"As soon as our machine is installed, we'll place a call. We'll just see who answers, to get things rolling."

Since the Russians announced launch of their two Martian probes in May, U.S. scientists have hoped to exchange data with them.
